PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Why Am I Doing This?

By Clark Stephens, President
CIF-SS Executive Committee

It's time to checkup on our motivations. Whether you are a superintendent, principal, athletic director, coach, official or someone else involved in high school athletics, every once in awhile you need to ask yourself the question, "Why am I doing this?"

Probably (hopefully) at one time you were motivated by a desire to give students a quality athletic experience as part of the process of producing "good" people. You know what I mean. People that have admirable character. People that have the characteristics of honesty, endurance, respect for authority, courage, leadership, service, and the ability to work as a team.

Sometimes we may find ourselves spending so much time and effort in producing the best athletic play that we neglect to use our influence and opportunity to develop the best personal characteristics in our players.

What would you rather have? The greatest team with members of questionable character or a team with lesser abilities, but with outstanding people. If we haven't succeeded in helping students to be better people, then their wins become hollow, without substance.

The story is told of a basketball team behind in a big game when the coach called a time out to talk to his players. The coach said, "Boys, you are running the plays with precision. Your passes are crisp and accurate. You are dribbling the ball with skill and finesse. You are working as hard as you can. BUT if we don't put the ball in the hoop, we're going to lose this game."

I have to ask myself some questions, while I invite you to do the same. Am I getting the ball into the hoop? You know, getting the real job done. "Am I looking good? Am I doing all the right stuff, but neglecting to focus on the real job of helping boys and girls grow into outstanding men and women of character? Or am I settling for wins instead of striving to be victorious?"

Do you remember what it felt like when you had a former player find you years later and you could tell that he or she had put it all together in his or her life while you knew that you played a part in helping that student develop into a good person? I hope you have. There's nothing like it.

Dave came by the school the other day and took the time to tell me that he was happily married and thoroughly enjoying his new child. He told me of his satisfying job and his hopes for the future. We talked about his experiences and how he was responding to life's normal trials. We shared information about his former teammates and coaches. Then he said, "I think about playing on the team all the time. I learned so much about myself and about life and I'm so glad I had a chance to play sports. Coach and the players had a great influence on me."

I don't know about you, but that's why I do what I do. I love being a part of a program that has a profound influence on young people. And when some boy or girl turns into a man or woman of character, then we know we put the ball into the hoop.

opponents. Imagine if we were allowed to learn club selection from the first person on the tee. If he were to share information that could help someone else in his/her foursome learn that a six iron won't get you across the water, wouldn't that hurt the outcome of the competition and be unfair to the first player on the tee? What if a player tells a competitor the wrong club to use? Can we see the day in high school golf when coaches in golf carts and/or walkie talkies cruise the course telling players what clubs to play on what hole? Of course one has to ask just how much help advice gives, but nevertheless many people argue that it should be allowed in Southern Section contests.

This is why I was pleased to see the press carry an item on Greg Chalmers, PGA professional. Chalmers was playing in the Kemper Insurance Open. He became miffed when he saw a caddie spying to see what clubs he was playing (remember caddies can give advice to their pros). He was upset after hitting a bad shot and turned to an offending caddie and said something like "1 hit a six-iron-now get away from me."

What I see as inspiring is that Chalmers found out about the rules violation after he completed his round. He reported the incident immediately to the rules official. With that knowledge, the official had to rule against him for signing an incorrect scorecard. Chalmers disqualified himself. It cost Chalmers a lot of money, but it makes an important point: the proper conduct of sport requires every participant to adhere to the rules.

The skeptic might laugh at him for walking away from so much money. The truth is that he will play again and will have a chance to make even more as he plays the tour. His decision to self-report is inspiring to me and should be to young players.

Michael Josephson tells us that ethical behavior means doing the right thing, even though the price we pay may be more than we want to spend. Well, Chalmers spent a lot, but he also earned the respect of the golfing community and upheld a set of rules that have been around for a long time. He behaved ethically. Should we change the rule? I don't think so. Golf is as much a mental challenge as physical. Let's let each player compete to the best of his/her ability, without interference, spying, or discussion. When mistakes are made, expect the offender to report it and move on. That's what the game is about.

NFHS ADDRESSES FOOD SUPPLEMENTS

(Recently, there has been an increased coverage of the use of food supplements and there effects on athletes at all levels. On August 14, 1998, the NFHS released a policy statement presented by their Sports Medicine Advisory Committee. The following is a re-print of that statement for your information)

In response to the recent focus on the use of food supplements, specifically creatine, the NFHS Sports Medicine Advisory Committee has issued a position statement on the use of drugs, medicine and food supplements in interscholastic sports. Text of the committee's statement follows:

"School personnel and coaches should not dispense any drug, medication or food supplement except with extreme caution and in accordance with policies developed in consultation with parents, health-care professionals and senior administrative personnel of the school or school district.

"Use of any drug, medication or food supplement in a way not prescribed by the manufacturer should not be authorized or encouraged by school personnel and coaches. Even natural substances in unnatural amounts may have shod-term or long-term negative health effects.

"In order to minimize health and safety risks to student-athletes, maintain ethical standards and reduce liability risks, school personnel and coaches should never supply, recommend or permit the use of any drug, medication or food supplement solely for performance-enhancing purposes."

Jerry Diehl, assistant director of the NFHS and staff liaison to the Sports Medicine Advisory Committee, said the committee issued this statement in response to requests from member state high school associations to address the increased use of food supplements such as creatine.

The Sports Medicine Advisory Committee is composed of four state association representatives and six members of the medical community, and is chaired by Don Herrmann of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association.

SOUTHERN SECTION MARKETING UPDATE
TOYOTA TITLES THE CIF-SS CHAMPIONSHIPS
FOR NEXT THREE YEARS

Beginning with the Fall 2001 playoffs, Toyota and the Southern California Toyota Dealers Association will be the official vehicle and title partner of the CIF Southern Section – TOYOTA Championships.

The three-year agreement that runs through the 2004 school year includes title sponsorship for Toyota and the Southern California Toyota Dealers Association at all CIF-SS Championship events, as well as, for the Kenny Fagans "Shake for Sportsmanship" and the Academic Athlete Awards programs.

"Toyota and the 57 Toyota dealers of Southern California are proud to be a part of the CIF Southern Section Team," said Roger Hogan, Vice-President of the Southern California Toyota Dealers Association. "We are pleased to support these fine students as they pursue CIF Southern Section Championships."

In exchange, the CIF-SS will receive financial compensation that will help to offset costs of championship events, fund valuable sportsmanship and academic programs, as well as helping continue to keep member school dues low.

"The CIF-SS is extremely excited about our new partnership with Toyota and the Southern California Toyota Dealers Association," said CIF-SS Commissioner of Athletics Dr. Jim Staunton. "This is a win-win relationship for both the CIF-SS and Toyota as our 520 member schools provide great geographical coverage of the Southern California market, while their support allows the CIF-SS to continue providing schools with first-class championship venues and valuable savings in membership fees."

The CIF-SS generates over 20% of an annual $1.79 million operating budget from corporate partnerships. This corporate support has enabled the CIF-SS to operate without a cost increase to member schools for more than 15 years.

Toyota's support will also allow the CIF-SS to expand the awards and special event ambiance created at the various sport championships. Providing participants with little things like commemorative hats or t-shirts are expensive but add to the overall excitement of each event.

Additionally, the new support creates funding for new services to be implemented and expanded. For 2001-2002, each member school will receive disks that enable school staff to prepare media forms and, for the first time, fifteen other participation related forms, on computer rather than the old typewriter. Initial tests on media forms last winter and spring brought rave reviews from school secretaries.

We look forward to building our new relationship with Toyota and the Southern California Toyota Dealers Association and encourage your support of the marketing efforts on their behalf. As noted, their support does 'directly' benefit each member school.

Golf
Advice

By James Staunton, Ed.D.
CIF-SS Commissioner of Athletics

"There are two kinds of fools in the world; those who ask for advice and those who give it."

The topic of advice in the sport of golf has been discussed in our golf advisory committees on several occasions. There are some strong feelings on either side. Presently, CIF Southern Section enforces a strict policy against competitors, even teammates, from exchanging information during a competitive round. This restriction is against "any counsel or suggestion that could influence a player in determining his play, the choice of a club or the method of making a stroke."¹ This prohibition is complicated because teammates are defined as "fellow competitors" during stroke play. It doesn't make sense to many coaches that we would restrict teammates from sharing information during a round, especially since high school is a time when students learn the rules of games and many coaches want to develop team camaraderie. Besides, many contend that coaches in the NCAA are allowed to give advice, and caddies in the professional ranks can give advice also. "What's wrong with kids exchanging advice?" they ask.

Well, number one, it is against the rules of golf Rule 8-1 reads, "During a stipulated round, a player shall not give advice to anyone in the competition except his partner and may ask for advice only from his partner or either of his caddies."³ Well if it says that you can get advice from a partner, doesn't that make it all right? No. In stroke play, partners are defined as "fellow competitors

The other reason offered for adhering to the advice rule is that we need to teach respect for our games and their traditions. Golf has long prided itself on the conduct of its competitors. Players are expected to call penalties on themselves as soon as they realize there has been a breach of the rules. As far as advice goes, the game asks that competitors not gain unfair advantage by learning appropriate club selection from See COMMISSIONER page 23.

PLAYOFF INFORMATION NOW AVAILABLE THROUGH THE INTERNET

The CIF Southern Section will no longer mail out playoff brackets sheets from the office. Schools and all other interested individuals can now find complete brackets sheets by going to the Internet and looking up the CIF-SS web site at www.cifss.org.

Additionally, from the winter sport season on, all sports playoff bulletins will be made available only via the internet as well.

The section makes this decision in an attempt to limit escalating mailing costs and in the hopes to provide more timely information via the CIF-SS web site. Any questions with regard to this decision may be directed through the CIF-SS office.

RULE
REVIEW

Timing
is Everything

By Karen Hellyer
CIF-SS Assistant Commissioner

I was recently reading an article by Que Tucker, who spoke at the Women in Sports Leadership Conference in 1998. In the article she stated a few things that really made sense and hit home in what we do here in this little corner of the world we call high school athletics. She stated that we all should remember, attitude determines your altitude. So what's it time for, then? It's time for the following ten things:

1. Be willing to pay the price. Success is never on sale; it's just a matter of deciding how much you want to pay.
2. Be self-disciplined.
3. Set some goals. Choice, not chance, determines destiny.
4. Learn to get along well with others. Live the Golden Rule and you'll get the gold. The gold medal of love ... the gold medal of satisfaction ... the gold medal of peace of mind.
5. Be a dreamer. Someone has said you will become as small as your controlling desire; as great as your dominant aspiration.
6. Take risks. Don't be afraid to fail.
7. Stay informed. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said, 'Man's mind, once stretched by a new idea, never regains its original dimensions.'
8. Be ethical. What you once knew to be right and wrong is still right and wrong. Right has been and always will be right.
9. Have some fun. You need to laugh.
10. Define leadership in your own terms. "I am only one, but, I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. What I can do, that I ought to do, and what I ought to do, but the grace of God I will do"

Sir Walter Scott said, "The three greatest letters in the English alphabet are N-O-W." It is now time for all of us to gear-up for a new year and all of the fun, excitement and occasional heartbreak that may occur during it. Let us use this small list as a guideline for the upcoming season. Use it as a tool, not only for your student-athletes, but also for you as an administrator. Let's make this the best year yet.

As always, should you have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact us here at the office. Good luck to one and all.

CIF-SS, DODGERS AND SCHOOLSPO RTS.COM
"SHAKE FOR SPORTSMANSHIP" PROGRAM IN ITS 19TH YEAR

Recognized as perhaps the most positive of all CIF Southern Section programs, the 19th annual "Kenny Fagans Shake for Sportsman ship" awards were presented to repre sentatives of selected member schools at Dodger Stadium on April 24. The award has been named in honor of Kenny Fagans, former Southern Section Commissioner. Once again, the program was able to take place due to the generous co-sponsorship of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I wish to commend the Dodgers for their efforts in the Shake for Sportsman ship Awards Program," said Dr. Jim Staunton, CIF-SS Commissioner of Athletics. "Sportsman ship is one of the most important as pects of interscholastic athletics, now more than ever."

The Kenny Fagans Shake for Sportsman ship program provides recognition for schools singled out by a vote of their peers — the members of their respective leagues — for outstanding sportsmanlike conduct throughout the school year.

Each of the winning schools was presented with plaques in a ceremony prior to the Dodgers-Pittsburgh Pirates game.

Although each league is free to establish its own criteria for the determination of the winning school, the CIF Southern Section has provided the following suggestions: student body participation; enthusiasm; behavior at home and away games; treat ment of opponents; and treatment of offi cials. Recommendations also call for judging to based on the actions of band mem bers, drill teams, pep squads, cheerlead ers, student rooting sections, in addition to the competing athletes.

The awards program also includes the CIF Los Angeles City Section, which singled out representative schools of six conferences to receive the award. All told, the program encompasses the athletic programs of over 500 Central and Southern California high schools.

"The CIF Southern Section appreciates be ing associated with this most outstanding program," added Staunton. "The award winning schools are to be commended for the direction provided by their administrative and coaching staffs and especially for the

PASO ROBLES AND HARVARD-WESTLAKE CLAIM TITLES IN TENTH ANNUAL CAVALCADE OF CHAMPIONS

The CIF Southern Section is pleased to announce the top ten girls and boys athletic programs in the 10th Annual Cavalcade of Champions.

On the girls side, Harvard/Westlake took top honors scoring 22 points on the strength of championships in volleyball, basketball and a co-championship in soccer. The Wolverines also claimed a runner-up finish in golf and water polo, as well as a semifinal finish in tennis. Corona del Mar was second tallying up 21 points, with championships in cross-country, track and tennis. The Sea Queens also reached the semifinals in volleyball, water polo and soccer. Rounding out the top three was Poly of Pasdaena. The Panthers scored 14 points based on championships in soccer and track. Poly also claimed a runner-up finish in volleyball as well as a fourth place finish in cross-country.

Paso Robles won the boys title. The Bearcats scored 17 points, winning CIF-SS titles in football, wrestling, and swimming. Paso Robles was also a semifinalist in basketball. Second place went to Newport Harbor. The Sailors also scored 17 points, but took second on the basis of a tie-breaker criteria. Newport Harbor won championships in basketball and water polo while the football team finished as a runner-up. The Sailors were also semifinalists in swimming and volleyball. The No. 3 spot went to Santa Margarita. The Eagles scored 16 points, winning a CIF-SS crown in volleyball. Santa Margarita's swimming team finished second and their basketball, soccer, track and golf team's reached the semifinals.

The CIF-SS developed this recognition program based upon comprehensive excellence in interscholastic competition. The purpose of this program is to enhance the spirit of competition, sportsmanship, and goodwill among the student athletes and member schools.

The winners are determined by a point system that provides: five points for a divisional championship; three points for a divisional runner-up finish; two points for advancing to the semifinal round or a third place finish in a team place-finish sport (i.e. cross country, golf, swimming and diving, and track and field); and one point for a fourth place finish in a team place-finish sport. In cases where a tie occurs several tie-breaking methods will be used to determine the top ten schools.

"Congratulations to these fine schools for outstanding performances," said Dr. Jim Staunton, CIF-SS Commissioner of Athletics. "They are to be proud of the accomplishments of their entire athletic programs."

MARSHALL-FREEMAN SELECTED AS CIF GENERAL COUNSEL

Diane O. Marshall-Freeman, with the law firm of Girard and Vinson and formerly the associate general counsel for the San Juan Unified School District, has been selected as the general counsel for the State CIF. She replaces recently retired and long-time general counsel Andrew Patterson.

The State CIF is the agency that administers high school athletics in the state of California. Formed in 1914, the CIF has 1272 member high schools, both public and private.

"We are pleased to bring Diane into the CIF family and feel that she is an excellent fit for our organization," said Marie M. Ishida, CIF executive director. "Her expertise in legal matters within the educational setting gives her the background to deal with issues that face our CIF member schools."

Since 1990, Marshall-Freeman has served as the associate general counsel for the San Juan Unified School District. She has represented the school district in a variety of legal issues: federal and state complaints; state and federal litigation; student expulsion appeals; discrimination; gender equity in athletics; and special education matters.

A high school and collegiate athlete, Marshall-Freeman played junior varsity volleyball at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) and competed for a year in South America.

"Being involved in athletics and now watching my kids compete in sports gives me real appreciation for what the CIF does," said Marshall-Freeman. "It's a great opportunity to not only see where the CIF is heading, but to be part of that process."

A graduate of UCLA School of Law, Marshall-Freeman began her law career as West Coast legal counsel for the National Association of Government Employees. She has also served as assistant business agent for Office and Professional Employees International Union 174 and labor associate for Taylor, Roth and Bush. Prior to her post with the San Juan Unified School District, Marshall-Freeman was the Director of Labor Relations for Universal Studios, Hollywood.

LONG BEACH POLY CLAIMS SIXTH GIRLS TITLE AT
2001 CIF STATE TRACK AND FIELD CHAMPIONSHIPS

The best in the nation is the way the CIF State Track and Field Championships are often described. And for good reason.

The 2001 meet, held at Hughes Stadium in Sacramento on June 1st and 2nd, was filled with great individual and team performances as two national high school records and one state meet record was set. In addition, Long Beach Poly won a record sixth girls' team title with a 59-point effort.

Shayla Ballentine of Morro Bay High School provided one of many meet highlights with a national record vault of 13-8. Her mark topped the previous best of 13-4 set by Stacie Manuel of Albertville High School in Minnesota set in 2000.

Big Bear's Ryan Hall then challenged the 4-minute mark in the 1600, setting a state meet best time of 4:02.62. Michael Stember of Jesuit had the previous state mark of 4:04.00 (1995). The Long Beach Wilson girls then broke their own national mark in the 1600 meter relay in a sizzling 3:35.72. Wilson set the previous standard of 3:36.32 at the 1998 state meet. Bei and Siraki, of Hoover Glendale High, also had the top national marks of the year in the 3200 at 10:11.11 and 10:11.79 respectively. Both will attend Stanford University in the fall.

Candace Bauchman sparked Long Beach Poly to the girls' team title finishing first in the triple jump (42-04.50) and third in the Long
