Hall of Fame Recognition Awards Program to Continue

In our inaugural year, 14 individuals were inducted into the newly created CIF Southern Section Hall of Fame. This project was met with running success as it involved not only member schools, but communities as well. Plans call to continue with respect to nominations for this prestigious award in the following categories: Executive Committee, coach, contest official, sports media, superintendent, principal, assistant principal, athletic director and support personnel such as trainer, medical equipment person, secretary, etc.

If submitting the name of an athletic director or coach, that person may still be active in the field of education but retired as an athletic director and/or coach. In all other categories, these individuals must be officially retired from the field of education (i.e., officials, sports media, etc.).

Official nomination forms are available in the CIF Southern Section Office with a deadline for submission of this year’s candidates March 1st. Our hope is to induct approximately the same number of recipients this year as accomplished during the 1983-84 school term. Please feel free to contact our office for the official nomination form.

Wilson & The Finals

Two of the CIF-SS Original Corporate Sponsors

The CIF Southern Section’s philosophy for sports marketing is simple: seek mutually beneficial agreements with the top corporations in each field. During the past five years the Southern Section has been very fortunate in securing multi-year arrangements. The Wilson Sporting Goods Company and The Finals Swimwear Company were among the first corporations to join the CIF-SS corporate support program.

Wilson Sporting Goods Company:

Wilson, one of the top names in sports equipment is in the second year of a three-year contract as the “Official Ball” of the CIF Southern Section. Before Wilson signed this long-term contract, the company was the “Official Tennis Ball” of the CIF-SS for many years. Steve Smith, Wilson’s Director of Team Sports Promotion had this to say about the CIF-SS program: “Wilson has been involved with the CIF Southern Section as its exclusive ball supplier for almost two years now. We are very proud of this association and the opportunity to assist the continuing strength of high school athletic programs in Southern California. We look forward to our involvement’s future and in maintaining a strong working relationship with both the CIF Southern Section and its member schools.”

The Finals Swimwear Company:

The Finals Swimwear Company continues to offer the finest quality swimwear at factory-direct prices to Southern Section member high schools. Listed by INC Magazine as one of the 10 fastest growing private corporations in the United States. The Finals is in the third year of a six year agreement with the Southern Section. As part of this agreement, The Finals sponsors the CIF-SS Water Polo and Swimming Championships. Philip Platanis, Vice President of The Finals is very encouraged by the relationship. “We are proud to be in our third year of sponsorship as the exclusive swimwear supplier to the CIF-SS. It is a pleasure to help assist and maintain athletic programs which are so important to the student-athletes and communities. It’s our (Continued on page 16)

Don’t Be Caught Unprepared

Check These SAT & ACT Test Dates

High School students participating in interscholastic activities often find conflicts between CIF-SS events and college test dates. Students can find a date which avoids interscholastic events if they arrange to take the test on those dates which do not conflict. High school counselors and principals are urged to call the attention of high school students to test dates and schedules of CIF-SS events contained in the Southern Section Calendar so that test dates can be selected to avoid conflicts.

3. COMMISSIONER'S UPDATE—Commissioner Ray Plutko provided an overview and goals for the CIF 1984-85 school year which included a ticket sale concept: the window awards provided for the boys and girls Moody Trophy Companies; corporate fund raiser; new Principals and Athletic Directors' orientation; the upcoming AD Symposium; and the new CIF Southern Section Office.

Commissioner Plutko introduced Mr. Art Kelly, CIF Commissioner, and Mr. Eddie Merrins of the Friends of College Golf, who presented a check to the CIF for $10,000 to the Commissioner for development to the amount of $500 each to 20 member schools participating in the sport of golf. Awards at luncheon.

4. NATIONAL FEDERATION UPDATE—Mr. Te Mauch reported on the National Federation willingness to hold meetings in Washington, D.C. It is hoped that staffs and athletic directors in attendance will benefit from knowledge of the CIF's efforts to promote intercollegiate athletics.

5. CIF/SFCS—Commissioner Plutko provided details of the CIF/SFCS program and the Friends of College Golf.

The Friends of College Golf have made a generous $10,000 gift to the CIF/SFCS program of the University of California at Los Angeles for the second year in a row. The presentation of the gift was made at the first quarterly CIF/SFCS council meeting, held at the Saddleback Inn of Norwalk on September 27. The donation was divided equally among 25 CIF/SFCS member schools, which were drawn at random during the meeting.

The Friends of College Golf is a non-profit organization dedicated to the advancement of youth in the world of sport and golf in particular. It was formed three years ago to support the college golf program at UCLA, but has grown large enough to encompass high school programs as well, evidenced by its generosity towards the CIF/SFCS. The organization now has between 400 and 500 members throughout the world.

This program is simply a tremendous benefit of the Friends of College Golf, noted CIF/SFCS Commissioner Ray Plutko. And it was just its existence at our council meeting, as indicated by the sincere and warm reception by the representatives of the member schools. In many cases, a $500 subsidy to our schools would make it possible for our students to participate in this important sport.

The Friends of Golf organization is attempting to do—maintaining and perpetuating the game within the intercollegiate program of the CIF/SFCS Section—is being accomplished, as the funds are distributed directly to the golf programs of the recipient schools.

In his presentation speech, Mr. Kelly said that he hoped the friends of college golf would continue to support the CIF/SFCS program for the next year and beyond.

The Commissioners of the CIF/SFCS program were grateful for the support and expressed their appreciation to Mr. Kelly for his presentation.

EQUIPMENT INVENTORY: A SYSTEMATIC APPROACH

One of the easiest ways to lose money, to frustrate athletes and coaches, and to create a painful image is to not have a systematic inventory control system for the many types of equipment and supplies which an athletic program carries. An effective inventory system must take into account three basic organizing factors: security, records and accountability. When these three items are put into a systematic inventory control system, the results can be both economically rewarding and time saving.

As we are all aware, school administrators are placing more and more responsibilities on the athletic director. A positive approach to an inventory control method can save valuable time, money and energy.

Security of equipment should be broken down into two areas: in-season and out-of-season. The in-season equipment should be easily accessible to the coach, manager and athletic director. There should be a key for the coach and key for the athletic director. If a room is used by more than one coach, it should be secure and divided for each team's equipment. The ideal solution is for each team to have its own lockable storage area. Then coaches can easily do their inventory in a minimum amount of time. The main emphasis should be on coaches having their own lockable storage areas to which only they have access. Ideally, the out-of-season equipment should be stored in one equipment room. A double-lock, dead bolt is probably the best security control. The person responsible for all athletic equipment might find it worth a few dollars to have a dead bolt lock installed. He should be the only one to have access to this room.

The room should be large enough to accommodate all team equipment. There should be room to allow sufficient movement to handle equipment when receiving initial and subsequent orders. It is very helpful to organize the room by season. During the current season that contains complete section of the room will be empty. This can provide sufficient room for small equipment repairs and the identifying and labeling of new equipment.

Records must be kept to maintain an effective inventory control system. This takes a little time and must be done with complete accuracy. Master inventory sheets should be made by item and by sport. When future purchases are made for a particular sport, it is then easy to obtain an overall look at a team's inventory by referring to the master sport inventory sheets.

Efficiency of each piece of equipment should include the year, size and number of items. The same information should be included in the athletic director's inventory sheets. In addition to the total inventory, the year season and pre-season inventories can more easily be made of all items are clearly marked. Accountability should be incorporated into the system for the student-athlete and the coach. A copy of the team's inventory prior to the start of the season will enable the coach to make the necessary decisions concerning player personnel and equipment. Each coach should sign out all that team equipment for the entire season. In turn, each coach should have each player sign out for every piece of equipment issued. An end-of-the-season report on each team's inventory is essential for future purchases and reconditioning.

An additional reference tool which can aid in the yearly inventory/purchasing process is an athletic equipment buyer's almanac. A sports administrator's responsibilities deal with a variety of concerns which are often overlooked in his training. This article offers concrete guidelines for the organization and successful management of equipment inventory. Although many athletic directors have different systems and philosophies, they might profit from reviewing this vital information. In turn, each coach should have each player sign out for every piece of equipment issued. An end-of-the-season report on each team's inventory is essential for future purchases and reconditioning.

15. EMERGENCY RESERVE FUND - Treasurer Bruce Kenuing reviewed concerns relative to a projected deficit in this year’s football playoffs due to rain on the initial weekend. As a result, this would have a direct impact of the working budget of the organization in that the present reserves are working reserves which the organization utilizes in the months of July, August, September and October until income is generated by dues and playoffs and then the working reserves are replaced.

Thus, there is a necessity to develop an emergency reserve fund in the event rain or other unforeseen emergencies arise from which to draw. By means of the member schools, the member schools are not being affected in any manner.

Following discussion, it was moved, seconded and passed, that beginning with the 1985-86 school year, an emergency reserve fund be established and that income for same be generated from the championship playoffs only, which are managed by the CIF-SS Office. Further, this is to be accomplished by $2.25 (cents) surcharge, from each ticket sold to be placed in the fund. By this method, no monies will be derived from school sources and/or sharing of gate receipts.

There being no further business to come before the Committee, the meeting was adjourned at 4:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
DEAN CROWLEY
