Lakewood's Tom Lederer, who relieved starting pitcher Russ McQueen in fourth, was credited with the win and pitched a fine game in relief. In the soft the seventh, Ventura had the bases loaded with one out. Lederer induced to fly to deep right field to get home the Cougars fourth run, then creded to pick Steve Carroll off second base to end the game.

Lakewood ended the season with a 22-2-1 record, while Ventura's season was 20-6.

ELSINORE TOPPLES ST. GENEVIEVE IN 11 INNINGS, 6-5

With two outs in the bottom of the 7th, it looked as if St. Genevieve would annex its first CIF, SS, baseball championship; however, Danny Edwards of Elsinore had different ideas, and the first baseman hit a home run over the right field fence 410 feet away to tie the game and send it into extra inning Edwards came to bat in the 11th inning and singled in the winning run to give Elsinore the championship in a thrilling climax to the Single A championship.

Coach Bob Cooper's tigers pounded out 18 hits throughout the contest but pitcher McElroy of St. Genevieve tightened up to limit Elsinore in the run-producing column and almost was a winner until Edwards' home run blow.

THE END

Guest Editorial .

By Bill Hewgley,
South Pittsburgh High School

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Almost without experion, participants can explain the value of taking part in interscholastic athletes much better than can adults. An example of this was included in the March, 1976 issue of the Scholastic Coach. We are printing the following editorial with magazine's permission. The item which the magazine's editor commented, has been done so beautifully, written by Bill Heyge, basketball player from South Pittsburg Has School, Tennessee, 1969. Who could destroy that interscholastic athletics have almost ulimited possibilities for educating boys after sharing Bill Hewgley's thoughts?)

Another season is over, finished, a season which will be preserved only in the record books . . . and in the memories of a great bunch of fellows. Why would anyone remember such a hard grind and the physical punishment ... running the mountain course until your lungs felt like bags of fire, the feel of sweat oozing from every pore and leaving a burning sensation in your eyes, the taste of blood from a nose or lip, getting your fingers jammed or ankle sprained . . . the agony of apewalks, oblique drills, sprints and calisthenics, the throbbing lump from elbows and fists a hundred different practice drills designed to draw upon your innermost reserve of strength and force you to deade whether or not you really love the game . . . the cloud of dejection and self crucification when you are jerked from the game, chewed out, and told to sit on the far end of the bench for failing to follow instructions.

All this physical and mental torture

A group shot of the Laureates honored at the Athlon Prize Ceremonies at the Greek Theater Pearson Park, Anaheim on June 3.

GREEK TRADITIONS REVIVED "Physical Distinction — Nobility of Mind"

The Athlon Prize, of Southern California, an award conceived by the Kalos Kagathos Foundation in cooperation with the CIF, SS, was awarded to thirtyfive southland Aquatic students and eighteen adults in ceremonies held at the Greek Theatre, Pearson Park, Anaheim on June 3, 1970.

The Athlon Prize is conferred in recognition of dedication to or exceptional achievement in Southern California interscholastic swimming, diving and water polo as a collaboration of education, athlete and water in confronting the potential of youth with the disciplines of aquatics athletics and their unique contributions to the psychological, social, physiological and moral maturity of young people as self-identified individuals.

Commissioner Kenneth Fagans acted as Master of Ceremonies and introduced each award winner. Tom DeLong, president of the Water Polo Coaches Association, conferred to each recipient a beautiful printed certificate. Dr. Theodore F. "THE END"

So how can a guy tell you that he loves basketball, his fellow players, his coach, and everything else related to the game?

. . . the close relationships with his teammates, of how he felt like a brother to many of them, of how they always stuck together, of everyone working together as a team and not as five heroes, of placing his hands into the pregame huddle and saying a small prayer for God to protect . . . and God did protect.

This is basketball at South Pittsburg, the part which no one sees but the player, a world in which the players could live forever.

The little world has come to an end. How can I explain the tears, lumps, the loss of speech when you walk off the court for the last time? How it feels to turn in your equipment and look around the dressing room where you made dreams and talked of greatness, and then walk out the door knowing that never again will you run in at 3:00 to suit up for practice?

The underclassmen can look forward to next year and a new season with new dreams. But for Eddie, Don, Bob, Douglas, Wegee, and myself there will be no next year, no more living, playing, and dreaming together. We know that we had our chance for greatness and that we didn't achieve it. Still each of us can put in a little claim for greatness, because we know in our hearts that we stuck in there and we tried. That's what the fellows and I will never forget.

SANTA ANA REPEATS 1954

Probably the outstanding highlight of the evening was Long Beach Poly's Jim Chaffin and Dave White of El Modena's duel in the two mile. They were separated by only two tenths at the finish for the second straight week with Chaffin winning in 9:01.0 and White coming home in 9:01.2.

The only record set was in the B division and this was Anaheim's swift 880 relay team, which nipped six tenths of a second from the old record as they ran a 1:28.9.

Anaheim edged Glendora 221/2 to 21 to win the Bee championship while Morningside edged San Bernardino 15-14 to win the Cee title.

SOLID COLOR FOR BASKETBALL SHIRT

It won't go into effect until the 1973-74 season but now is a good time to keep in mind an upcoming new basketball rule!

"Beginning with the 1973-74 season, shirts shall be the same solid color front and back. A side seam insert or a side seam trim of any color and not to exceed 4" in width, and piping not to exceed 1/4" around the neck and the arm opening will be per-

The provision will be included in the National Alliance BASKETBALL RULES publication beginning with the 1970-71 season.

It is important for schools to know this regulation now inasmuch as it affects the purchasing of uniforms.

VALUE OF OFFICIALS' RATING CARDS

We sometimes hear the complaint from coaches, "The official ration cards do not receive any attention from the CIF office". This is far from true, as every card returned is read by Darold Roundy, the assignment secretary. If negative remarks are made concerning an official, officials coaches are contacted to see what the problem was and if interpretation the rules are being carried out corner ly. During the school year 1969.70 Mr. Roundy initiated a pilot rating tem of officials. The purpose of the new system is to have additional conteria to more accurately evaluate the officials. This was done in football basketball and baseball.

All rating cards were tabulated for each official as to preferreds, factory, or unsatisfactory ratings. An rating cards not returned were score as satisfactory. The total number of games worked was listed for each official. Then a point value was given to each preferred (5), satisfactory and unsatisfactory (1), so that conficial had a total number of points. This score was divided by the number of games worked to give the official an average score.

| No. of of Games | No. of Ratings | Pref. | Sat. | Uns. | Total | Inc. | Inc.

We realize that the score of any one individual is not of value, but it is of value when compared to the "mean" of the association and to others who have worked approximately the same number of games.

A rating is only as valid as the person doing the rating. Therefore, we would hope that the coaches would take more time and do a good objective job of rating their officials and return all rating cards promptly.
