FEMININE FOCUS

ON THE COVER

ISHIDA NAMED WOMAN AD OF THE YEAR IN SOUTHERN SECTION

A woman's work is never done — especially if she is an athletic director. But Marie Ishida who supervises the girls' physical education programs at Artesia High School doesn't seem to mind.

And it is this attitude which last month earned for her the Woman Athletic Director of the Year title in the Southern Section awarded by the California Secondary Athletic Directors' Association (CSADA).

"It takes a lot of hard work and extra time to make the best all-around program for the girl athletes," Ishida said.

And in the two years she has directed the girls' programs at Artesia High School, she has managed to do just that, according to Executive Committee member and fellow athletic director Barbara Wilson.

Wilson, who nominated Ishida, also presented her with the award at the CSADA luncheon held during last month's general meeting at the South Coast Plaza Hotel.

"I've always heard fine reports about her quiet, unassuming dedication," Wilson said.

"Her programs are good, well-rounded and well-run. She is always interested in new and innovative things. "But she is also interested in the total overall picture, as well as her own school."

Ishida said she is now breathing a sigh of relief since the girls' basketball finals which were under her direction, concluded last month.

But she is still active as coordinator for the girls' Suburban League and a member of the district committee on Project Equity. The later strives to implement Title IX in certain school districts.

Ishida is a 1970 graduate of California State University at Long Beach with a bachelor's degree in physical education.

She spent three years as an instructor at Faye Ross Jr. High School before she transferred to Artesia High School in 1973.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL: AN 85-YEAR TRADITION

Note: The following is an article taken from the girls' basketball finals program written by Elaine Osborn CIF-SS publicity specialist for girls' sports.

Two nine-man teams scurried up and down the gymnasium floor on a frosty December morning bouncing and rolling a soccer ball between them.

On either side of the gym a peach basket was precariously suspended from the gallery 10 feet above the floor.

Dr. Luther Gullick said he created the activity the previous summer to fill a need for vigorous activity that could be played indoors during the harsh winter months.

The year was 1891. The place was the YMCA College in Springfield, Mass. And the activity was later dubbed — for obvious reasons — basketball.

The first game was as rough as it was primitive.

But the apparent hazards did not ruffle the women from a nearby teachers' college who had stopped in the gym during their lunch hour to witness the curious new activity.

They returned to the gym not long after, decked out in high-topped shoes, corsets, long trailing dresses and leg-of-mutton sleeves for their first basketball lesson.

When they absorbed the games' fundamentals, the women then returned to their school to practice what they learned.

A few months later, the first basketball competition among women took place at the college in a colorfully decorated gym packed with curious classmates.

No men, of course, were allowed to witness that first contest. Although the women wore long stockings, leather shoes and high collars with ties, it was considered improper for men to see young ladies in the below-the-knee bloomers they wore for the game.

The contest consisted of two 15-minute halves with a five minute intermission.

Cheering during the game was strictly prohibited as un-ladylike. But the winning team was allowed to sing victory songs at the game's end.

Public response to women playing basketball was surprisingly enthusiastic for those Victorian times.

One article praised it as, "the best all-around development for girls". Besides improving their physical strength it gives them poise, self-confidence and self-control."

A 1902 Harpers Magazine article was lavish in its reception of women's basketball. It called a young lady who participated in the sport, "a martyr to her athletic ambition".

"While there is no training-table and she is allowed full liberty as regards her food, she is, nevertheless expected to abstain from candy, sweetmeats, or other things that might prove detriment to her strength and wind.

"As the time for spring games approaches, she is very particular about her hours and invitations to late social events are politely but firmly refused.

Yet, the adulation lasted only as long as women played the sport for pleasure. Serious athletic competition for women was out of the question.

Women were known to be poor losers.

They were emotionally incapable of bearing up under pressure associated with competition.

And a woman's frail body and small heart meant basketball was better off left with the men.

Today the bloomers are replaced with knits.

The archaic attitudes and false notions of women's physical potential have given away as indicated by the growing acceptance of women in virtually every athletic competition.

And women's basketball competition is not only widespread throughout the country, it was included in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

You've come a long way, baby.

FINALS ATTRACT BIGGEST CROWDS EVER

A total of more than 4,000 spectators were on hand to see Huntington Beach, Righetti and Bishop Diego high schools win their respective 4A, 3A and 2A girls' basketball division titles.

Administrative Assistant Margaret Davis said the April 29 championships were the most well attended girls' athletic event in the Southern Section's history.

More than 2,500 fans were present at Cal State Fullerton when third seed Huntington Beach defeated first seed St. Joseph, 77-60, and Righetti edged Upland, 52-49.

The championships were managed by Marie Ishida of Artesia High School.

The 2A championships were held at Imperial Valley College.

Before 1,500 spectators, Bishop Diego beat number one seed Brawley, 52-49.

COACHES CORNER

MUIR'S WALT OPP TRACK COACH OF THE YEAR

California Coaches' Association Track Coach of the Year Walter Opp of Muir High School will be one of five contenders for the national title June 22 in Hampton, Va.

Opp started his coaching career at San Bernardino College in 1946.

Two years later, he moved to John Muir College which was later transformed into the present high school.

In his 30-year career he has only had 26 losses to 292 wins.

He has coached 17 league championship teams, five CIF champs and two statewide champs.

Opp said he owed his success to the "good talent of my kids and the ability to bring out the best in them."

"I won't quit until I lose that incentive which I haven't lost yet."

SCHOOL PACKETS READY FOR AUGUST PICKUP

League representatives, administrators and athletic directors are reminded to make plans for the picking up of their school packets for the start of the new term.

These packets will be available August 26th and will contain copies of the Blue Book, Director of Member Schools, new informational material and forms for the 1977-78 school year.

MEDICAL COMMENT:

SANITATION IN SPORTS

(A Comment by the Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports of the American Medical Association and the National Federation.)

Camaraderie in the locker room may be good for team morale, but it should not extend to the interchange of personal equipment. Unless they are advised against it, players will sometimes use each other's combs, towels, socks, t-shirts and even supporters. No one knows exactly the extent to which disease is spread by such interchange, but it could be considerable. By discouraging this practice, the coach not only teaches an important personal hygiene principle, but he may prevent his team from being laid low by communicable disease.

The same principle applies to the well-known practice of providing a common towel or towels for the whole team's use during time-outs. In addition to absorbing perspiration from several players, such towels frequently pick up excretions from nose and mouth. Each player should have his own numbered or initialed towel, and care should be taken to see that even in the excitement of the game no interchange takes place. When play is in progress, towels may be hung on a rack on hooks numbered or lettered to correspond with the identification on the towel.

The common drinking cup has disappeared from public places, but its use still persists in some athletic events in the form of a jug, a milk bottle, or other container from which players drink or rinse in turn. If the game is played where players cannot have access to a fountain, individual paper drinking cups can be supplied at a minimal cost. To prevent interchanges, they should be disposed of after each use.

A popular and sanitary device used in many schools today utilizes a squeeze bottle with a dispenser. With the bottle in a vertical position the player squeezes it and water is forced out through a strawlike tube. He doesn't put his mouth on the tube so the next player can use it with no infection risk.

Care taken to prevent the interchange of personal articles or the use of common towels or drinking cups will pay big dividends. Besides helping to keep a team healthier, a valuable health education lesson is provided not only for the players but also for the other students, parents and school patrons who see the games and note the health practices being followed.

BOOK REVIEW:

PLANNING PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETIC FACILITIES IN SCHOOLS

We are not experts in facilities planning or construction, so we have difficulty in assessing the quality of Kenneth A. Penman's 1977 book, PLANNING PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETIC FACILITIES IN SCHOOLS.

It lacks sufficient detail to be useful for architects and engineers, but it is detailed enough that athletic administrators who read the book may become conversant with professional designers and builders.

It identifies problem areas in facilities but it may also create some problems for athletic administrators who take Mr. Penman's word as gospel. For example, the lists of associations whose work relate to facilities construction omits the major rule-making associations for competitive educational athletics — the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the National Federation of State High School Associa-

SAN MARINO & MISSION VIEJO CAPTURE BOY'S SWIM TITLES

U. S. Olympian Brian Goodell set a pair of National High School records to pace Mission Viejo High School to a third straight CIF Southern Section 4A swimming championship.

Goodell won the 200 freestyle in 1:37.15 to break the mark of 1:38.80 held by Dick Hannula of Tacoma, Washington, and clocked 4:20.81 in the 500 freestyle to smash the mark of 4:23.4 set by Long Beach Wilson's Tim Shaw.

Greg Winchell of LB Wilson set a third national prep record, in the meet, winning the 100 breaststroke in 57.68 to break the mark of 57.7 set by Santa Clara's Brian Job in 1969.

Mike Kelly of Fountain Valley, a double winner, set new CIF-SS 4A records in the 50 (20.72) and (100 45.54) freestyles.

Long Beach Wilson set another 4A record, clocking a 1:36.07 in the 200 Medley Relay.

In all, six new records were established in the meet at East Los Angeles Community College, considered by many to be the fastest pool in the Southland.

Mission Viejo also won the frosh/soph title followed by Newport Harbor and Mira Costa.

San Marino High School, finishing first in six of the ten events, swept to their third consecutive 3A swimming title. The Titans easily out-distanced their nearest rival El Dorado, scoring 269 points.

San Marino's 200 medley relay team was clocked at 1:36.63 breaking the old mark set earlier in the prelims by the Titans.

James Fowler broke two CIF-SS marks as he set a record in the 200 individual medley with a time of 1:52.39, and the 100 backstroke with a clocking of 52:17.

Also a double winner was Byron Sims of Rancho Alamitos who set marks in the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:44.02 and in the 100 freestyle with a 46.25.

Scoring 43 points, San Marino won the frosh/soph followed by Servite with 37.

WHAT'S HAPPENIN' IN THE OTHER 49 STATES

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of monthly articles covering items of interest from throughout California and other State Associations in their administration of high school athletics.)

ITEM: Nebraska Highlights . . .

COMMENT: Football play-offs in Nebraska will be expanded to eight teams in each class next season. The three-game play-off series will be conducted during a two-week period following the nine weeks of the regular season. Football play-offs were first adopted in Nebraska just two years ago.

ITEM: Champions on Winning Streak . . .

COMMENT: A 68-game winning streak in Basketball has been put together by Teton High School in Idaho. The school won the Class AAA state championship for the third straight year in 1977.

ITEM: Don't Count Your Chickens . . .

COMMENT: When a team has won 18 consecutive games and is leading by 16 points at the start of the fourth quarter, and the opponent has only five players, you might expect the team to win its 19th consecutive game. That was the situation when Carey High School played Dietrich High School in Idaho. However, the Dietrich Blue Devils fought back during the last quarter and cut the lead to 12 points with five minutes to go. With 2:17 remaining, one of Dietrich's players fouled out. But, with four players, they continued to trim Carey's lead and pulled within one point with 23 seconds to play. Then, another Dietrich player fouled out. Nevertheless, with 13 seconds to go, the Blue Devils took a 75-74 lead and wound up winning the game — with three players remaining on the court.

ITEM: Sportsmanship applauded . . .

COMMENT: Good sportsmanship is emphasized by state high school associations in a variety of ways. The New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association gave as a "favor" to all administrators attending its annual meeting a key ring with NHIAA logo on one side and a statement promoting good sportsmanship on the other side. The statement was "Good sportsmanship is the oil of human relations" and it was well received by the top school authorities in the state with the hope that they will be constantly reminded that the NHIAA and good sportsmanship go hand in hand.

ITEM: Season change in North Dakota

COMMENT: The Sports Season Committee of the North Dakota High School Activities Association conducted a survey of member schools regarding sports seasons and game limitations. As a result of the survey, several changes have been adopted by the NDHSAA Board of Directors, including moving girl's tennis to the Spring and boy's tennis to the Fall beginning next year and combining boys and girls track meets at the district and state level beginning next year.

ITEM: Crime does not pay

COMMENT: Arrest for armed robbery led to the suspension of a wrestler at Waterloo (Iowa) East High School by his administration. School officials notified the Iowa High School Athletic Association that the boy, who had won the district wrestling meet, would not be participating in the IHSAA state wrestling meet. The IHSAA Board of Controls replaced the Waterloo East wrestler with a boy from Mason City, and the replaced boy took his case to court. The Judge said the boy failed to show that the IHSAA action excluding him from the tournament was excessive, arbitrary or outside the law. Judge James T. Denato, in ruling the boy could not participate in the state tournament, stated: "Simply because we are a court of law does not mean that you are set up to right all the wrongs that are committed in this world."

ITEM: Here's one for the crew cuts . . .

COMMENT: A hair length regulation of the North Forest Independent School District in Texas was upheld last year in the state court system. A Circuit Court of Appeals said that because children are in a formative period of their lives where in their values are being established by parents, church and schools, all may reasonably establish rules of conduct arising out of the relationship without intervention of the courts. For this reason, the court maintained the hair length regulation did not violate the equal protection amendment to the state constitution, even though it applied to only male students.

SUMMER COMPETITION RULES REVIEWED

It's just about time for the close to another school year and it would be appropriate for athletic directors to review with their staffs the guidelines covering competition during the summer months.

From the close of school in June until the opening of school in the fall semester, there shall be no restriction on high school coaches working with high school students or entering them in summer competition.

However, a member school may not sponsor a team's entry, provide uniforms or equipment, or otherwise be responsible for students in summer competition.

Coaches having teams entered in summer competition should be reminded that their teams may NOT start competition prior to the close of their school year in June — even though the league in which they are entered may have an earlier starting date.

INSURANCE INQUIRIES SHOULD BE DIRECTED TO STATE CIF

School administrators, athletic directors and coaches are reminded that all questions dealing with insurance are to be directed to the State CIF Office in Santa Barbara.

Each week, the Southern Section Office receives a number of inquiries on insurance, forms, etc. Please advise your staff and parents as to the proper office to contact.

CIF-SS OFFICE PROVIDES MONTHLY LISTING SERVICE

Don't forget to take advantage of the services offered by the CIF-SS Office in the areas of games wanted, coaching vacancies and directory changes.

Simply call or mail your openings at least once each month and that same list for both Boys and Girls will be circulated to all members schools throughout the Southern Section.
