PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Do We Really Want to Cut Costs?

By Dr. Ken Gunn, President
CIF-SS Executive Committee

We are in the process of taking a serious look at two of the major concerns within our section: regionalization for playoffs and weighted voting. Two committees are working to prepare some recommendations for our council to vote on in each of these areas.

There is a third area that seems to be the topic of much discussion, but to date, "No action." This is the generally expressed feeling that we need to cut the costs of athletics to schools. Forgive me, but I am getting some real mixed messages on this topic. On one hand, we continually hear that the cost of travel, officials and event security are "breaking" our schools' student body accounts. Contrast this with the number of schools applying for out-of-state travel, the rapidly changing format and number of contests beyond the guaranteed in tournaments, and the expansion of summer programs supported by parents, players and coaches.

Simply stated, we can't have it both ways. We can decrease the cost of athletics by reducing the number of contests and/or tournaments allowed in each sport. For example, if we reduced the maximum number of contests in all lower level sports (junior varsity, etc.), we would see some savings in travel and officials' fees. We could reduce the maximum number of contests in non-revenue producing sports at all levels and increase this savings.

Given the expansion of outside teams and the year-round nature of most sports, could our freshman baseball teams get by with 18 games, instead of 20? Do our junior varsity soccer teams need to squeeze in 20 matches before they begin their club seasons? What about tournaments? Suppose we had to count the number of games we actually played or the average numbers played all teams in the tournament?

My guess is that the people complaining about all the fund-raising required to run athletics might just be the same ones who would resist these types of changes.

In my opinion, if we really want to reduce costs, we have to bite the proverbial bullet. Travel and security costs will continue to increase. I doubt that our officials will embrace the idea of working for less. To save money, we have to consider downsizing.

Before we form another committee and ask them to bring us ideas, let's answer the question: "DO WE REALLY WANT TO CUT COSTS?"

WILSON & CONLIN BROS. SUPPORT CIF ACTIVITIES & EVENTS

The betterment of interscholastic athletics is the foundation on which the CIF Southern Section has built its relationships with Wilson Sporting Goods and Conlin Bros.

"On behalf of the entire CIF Southern Section, I am pleased to be associated with these two fine organizations," said Dean Crowley, CIF-SS Commissioner of Athletics. "Through the years, both Wilson and Conlin Bros. have shown the ability to promote participation and equal playing fields by providing quality products for all athletics events. I salute them for their dedication and highly encourage member schools to consider these companies when purchasing goods and services," added Crowley.

Wilson is currently in its ninth year as the "Official Ball of the CIF-SS." Wilson furnishes complementary balls to all championship teams in the sports of football, boys and girls basketball, boys and girls soccer, boys and girls tennis, baseball and softball.

"Wilson's sponsorship of high schools and athletics began in the CIF-SS and has led to current involvement in other state-wide programs," said Tony Domenick, Western Regional Manager. "Wilson is proud of its service to the Southern Section schools and appreciates their continued support of Wilson sports equipment."

Conlin Bros., the Official Sporting Goods Team Dealer of the CIF-SS, is in its ninth year as a CIF-SS corporate sponsor. The Government Service Administration (GSA), which is the purchasing arm of the Federal Government, considers Conlin Bros. a manufacturer of football and baseball protective gear under the label of BLITZ and ASCL, as well as other athletic supplies. Conlin Bros. opened its doors on Fifth and Fairfax in Los Angeles 50 years ago this August, a great track record in today's economy.

"We use the Southern Section as a reference of information and have enjoyed our relationship immensely," said Ken Conlin, Chairman of the Board of Conlin Bros. Sporting Goods. "Currently, our emphasis is directed toward maintenance and repair of indoor and outdoor athletic equipment. In addition, we specialize in installation of new equipment and service needs (for school-based athletic programs)," said Conlin. Conlin Bros. specializes in outfitting teams with equipment, uniforms and related supplies for all athletic events.

COMMISSIONER'S CORNER

It's Been a Year of Great Success for the Section

By Dean Crowley
Commissioner of Athletics

As the 1994-95 school year comes to a close, it's a good time to reflect on the many good things we have been able to accomplish together this year.

In the area of hardships, the CIF Southern Section has processed 438 hardships this year as of March 23, of which 298 were approved and 140 denied. From those, 23 appeals were processed, of which 9 were approved and 14 denied. Also, 756 transfer eligibility cases (213s) have been processed this year, all with no problems.

Additionally, the section successfully dealt with three major undue influence cases.

Another indication of what a successful year it has been is in the attendance at our championship playoff events. We set records again for attendance at our boys basketball championships at the Anaheim Pond on March 4. The evening session attracted a crowd of 15,103, far surpassing the previous record of 13,395 set last year at The Pond. The total attendance on March 4 was 24,682, demonstrating how popular Southern Section athletics are with the public.

Many of our schools have received national ranking recognition this year, with one school being ranked No. 1 at one time in both football and boys basketball.

The Southern Section budget is in better shape than in recent memory, with a healthy reserve fund.

In the area of sportsmanship, we have seen great improvement this year, as has been noted in the CIF-SS Bulletin and in numerous other publications. New rules relating to sportsmanship have helped provide a better environment at athletic events, yet we still have a ways to go in making it ideal, especially in the sports of boys basketball and baseball.

It's important to remember that good sportsmanship starts at the Southern Section level, with the major responsibility resting with the school administration for accountability of coaches as proper role models, while coaches should demand from their athletes the proper ideals of sportsmanship, ethical conduct and fair play.

The Southern Section staff is dedicated to being responsive to the needs of member schools, staffs, coaches and athletic programs as a whole. We are not afraid of change and will continue to implement your good ideas and suggestions.

I'm proud of the accomplishments we have attained this year. Let's continue to work hard to project a positive image.

DIAL & TOMBSTONE
CONTRIBUTE TO HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

The Dial Corporation Consumer Products Group and Tombstone Pizza are proud sponsors of CIF sports statewide.

With shrinking statewide budgets, many of the first programs slated for elimination are athletic related. This financial need prompted The Dial Corporation to become an official sponsor of CIF.

"Dial has several programs that have the ability to generate substantial funding for participating schools," said Brendan McGuiness, Vice President/General Manager of the Western Division for Dial. "We believe our CIF sponsorship helps increase recognition and strengthen the loyalty of our products with CIF participants, families, spectators and supporters.

Sports related sponsorship is not new to The Dial Corporation. For 16 years, Dial has been the sponsor of "The Dial Award", which awards outstanding male and female athletes and their schools based upon athletic and scholastic achievement. Past winners include former CIF Southern Section athletes Tiger Woods (golf), Todd Marinovich (football/basketball), Cheryl Miller (basketball), along with Hershel Walker, among others.

Dial is also a sponsor of the Dial Basketball Classic, a tournament in its 17th year that features many of the top women's collegiate teams in the country.

"At Dial, we believe that the key to a healthy mind is a healthy body," said McGuiness. "What better way to develop both mind and body than through CIF-sponsored athletics."

Another statewide sponsor is Tombstone Pizza, the No. 1-selling frozen pizza nationally and in California.

"We're proud and excited to be affiliated with the CIF and are pleased to be in a partnership with CIF and member high schools to raise much needed dollars for under-funded programs."

Tombstone originated in Medford, Wisconsin in 1962. Two brothers formed the company, which was situated across from a cemetery and was originally known as Tombstone Tap. The business expanded to include the selling of frozen pizzas in the midwest market. In 1988, Kraft purchased Tombstone and began selling the pizzas on a national level.

REVIEW

A Look At
The Summer
Dead Period

By Bill Clark
CIF-SS Assistant Commissioner

The CIF Southern Section Council has eliminated school year dead periods. However, the seasons of sport will remain the same.

There will still be a week in between the season of sport in which schools will be allowed to conduct tryouts, or allow coaches and student-athletes an opportunity to take time off from athletics, if they so choose. All association rules will continue to apply during this time.

The CIF-SS Council, at its March 9, 1995 meeting, voted to retain the summer dead period. Between the period of August 1-21 coaches may not have contact with student-athletes, except for weightlifting. No running or other types of conditioning is allowed. It is hoped that students and coaches alike can plan vacations, as well as take time off in preparation for the upcoming seasons.

In the sports of cross country and water polo, instead of the August period, an alternate dead period may be taken from June 26 to July 17. This should be coordinated through the school principal.

As outlined in Rule 2412 of the CIF-SS Blue Book, special nationally recognized programs in various sports that require a national or regional championship format would be allowed to continue, until completion, during the dead period.

Finally, it should be noted that the Council has given the CIF-SS Commissioner the authority to establish alternate dead periods upon written request of a school's principal for special, unique situations. This could include special travel, scheduling difficulties, etc.

Principals and athletic directors need to review with coaches their summer plans to make certain everyone is in compliance with summertime rules. It is much easier to resolve problems before hand rather than after the fact.

FLUIDS! FLUIDS! FLUIDS!

It is our responsibility, as coaches, to ensure that our young athletes stay well hydrated during practice and competition. By educating young athletes on the importance of hydration, incorporating plenty of water breaks into our practice plan, and by making water accessible at practice and competition, we can protect youngsters from dehydration, as well as help them to enhance their performance.

Medical research shows that dehydration causes a decrease in blood volume which in turn, greatly decreases the cardiovascular system's ability to deliver oxygen to the muscles. A mild case of dehydration can cause muscle cramps, fatigue, grogginess, and a decrease in athletic performance. As dehydration becomes more severe the body loses its ability to sweat and keep itself cool, thus increasing one's body temperature. If dehydration becomes severe enough, heat stroke and even death can occur.

Research has shown that drinking fluids before competition WILL NOT cause abdominal cramps. In fact, dehydration is the cause of most gastrointestinal cramps during a game or competition. It has been further proven that if an athlete drinks 6-8 ounces of water just before competition their body will absorb 93% of that fluid into bloodstream and not the bladder.

Encourage your athletes to drink 16-32 ounces of fluid, preferably water, between lunch and an hour before an afternoon practice or competition or between breakfast and an hour before morning practice or competition. A well hydrated athlete will have plenty of oxygen in the muscles, thus allowing him/her to maintain a good work rate, avoid muscle cramps and fatigue.

There are quite a few "sports drinks" on the market these days. Some of them, if used properly, can help to replace lost nutrients. Gatorade, for example is full of electrolytes while Exceed is a carbohydrate drink. In order to get the best results from these drinks, encourage your athletes to drink them AFTER a competition rather than before.

CIF-SS CAPTURES FOUR STATE BASKETBALL TITLES

Southern Section schools won four titles at the CIF/Toyota State Basketball Championships at the Oakland Coliseum Arena on the weekend of March 17-18, including a thrilling overtime victory by Mater Dei in Boys Division I.

In all, nine Southern Section teams played in the 10 championship games Friday and Saturday, by far more than any other section in CIF.

Mater Dei was represented by its boys and girls teams in Division I. The Mater Dei boys (36-1) defeated Oakland Fremont in overtime, 71-67, while the Monarch girls (28-2) were defeated by Atherton Sacred Heart Prep, 52-50, on Saturday. It was the third state title for the Mater Dei boys (the others were in 1987 and '90).

A week later, Sports Illustrated ran a color story on the Mater Dei teams playing in the state finals.

In title games played Friday, March 17, Montclair Prep of Van Nuys (28-5) won the Division V boys championship with a 83-67 victory over San Francisco University High.

Woodbridge of Irvine (33-1) won the girls Division II title with a 55-40 victory over Sacramento El Camino. Woodbridge avenged last year's 71-38 loss to El Camino in the state final.

Also on Friday, the Dominguez of Compton boys fell in the Division II title game, 73-65, to St. Francis of Mountain View.

On Saturday, March 18, in addition to the Mater Dei games, Verbum Dei's boys team (26-5) won the Division IV title with a 60-59 win over San Bruno Capuchino. Andre Larry's basket with five seconds remaining was the difference for Verbum Dei.

Also, Artesia of Lakewood (29-4) lost in the boys Division III championship game to Walnut Creek Northgate, 47-41. Artesia had won three Division II state titles entering the game.

The Newbury Park girls team lost in the Division III title game, 64-56, to San Jose Archbishop Mitty.

Finally, the Cerritos Valley Christian girls (24-4) fell in the Division IV championship by a score of 62-37 to Morago Campolindo.

ALL-TIME ATTENDANCE REACHED AT POND

The second year of Southern Section CIF/Toyota boys basketball championship games at the Pond of Anaheim on Saturday, March 4, 1995, proved again to be an overwhelming success as attendance records were broken for the evening session of games.

Attendance for the two-game evening session was 15,103, breaking the Southern Section evening session record 13,395, set last year at the Pond. Fans were treated to two fine games with the Division I-AA game between Long Beach Poly and Fontana, followed by the I-A title game between Mater Dei and Nogales.

Total attendance for the six-game day and evening sessions on March 4 was 24,682.

GOOD SPORTS: Three Coaches Set Tone

By Ev Phillips of the Independent

When boys varsity soccer coaches John Stilwell of Centennial, Mike Sutherland of Corona and Dave Eckenrod of Norco face each other on the field, their teams hold nothing back.

For them and their players, that's the way it has to be.

"Mike has a team motto about leaving no regrets that we all believe in," Stilwell said. "Hey, spend it all. Don't come off the field and say I could have done something else."

But when the games are over, there are handshakes and hugs all around.

Building friendships and teaching players the importance of good sportsmanship is what Stilwell, Sutherland and Eckenrod are all about.

It's a process the three mentors believe must start with them.

"We'll stay out on the field 15 minutes before a game talking to each other," Eckenrod said. "It lets the kids know that we're friends off the field as well as competitors on the field."

Stilwell agreed.

"It's something these kids need to see," he said. "It's not a show. It's a genuine deal."

Getting the players to buy into the concept has sometimes been a hard sell.

"Some of the guys in years past couldn't understand how I could be friends with the opposing coaches," Stilwell said. "During the game we're going at each other. But I know Mike would do anything for me and he knows I'd do anything for him. It's important for me to be able to give him a hug. And Dave the same thing."

Sutherland believes his relationship with Stilwell and Eckenrod has a positive effect on the players.

"I think what we do as coaches carries over to the kids," Sutherland said. "I'd like to think that we make a difference."

Evidence of that is readily apparent in games between the three teams.

In a Jan. 13 match between Centennial and Corona -- which the Panthers won 3-1 on a pair of second-half goals that broke a 1-1 tie -- there were several instances of good sportsmanship.

In the first half after Corona's Joey DiGiamarino rattled a hard shot off the Centennial goal post Stilwell shouted, "Joey! Nice shot!"

In the second half DiGiamarino went off with a knee injury after a scramble in the Centennial end. When the all-CIF midfielder reentered the game Husky defender Jared Bohulano extended his hand, which DiGiamarino quickly accepted.

Minutes later Panther forward Eric Haley headed in the winning goal past Husky goalkeeper Brad Miller.

the Riverside Poly tournament Dec. 17. Fierce competitors on the field, the three are best of friends off the field.

When the game ended Haley and Miller embraced at midfield.

"Gotta have a big celebration," Haley said later. "(But once the game is over) it's all friendship. Just like when me and Brad hugged afterward. I got to brag in his face about it, but he's a great goalie. I owe it to him to say that. He had a great game."

Stilwell says scenes like that make it all worthwhile.

"If anybody, it should be those that you know that you play the hardest against," the Husky coach said. "And then after the game you go out and have pizza or whatever because you're still friends."

Stilwell teaches his players to keep games in perspective.

"I tell my guys that the team they're playing isn't their enemy," he said. "They're your opponent. There's a difference -- and they need to see that."

Sutherland believes the players respond to Stilwell and Eckenrod because they have their best interests at heart.

"What I appreciate most about John and Dave is that they're both there for the kids," Sutherland said. "The players believe we're there for them. It's not the other way around."

While all three coaches want to win a CIF championship, their common goal is to see a Mountain View League school take the title.

"Our goal is for the Mountain View League to be the toughest in CIF," Stilwell said. "And it is becoming that. Our dream is to have an all-Mountain View League final. Nothing gives us a bigger charge than being part of a league that's going to dominate."

Loyalty between the three is strong when CIF opponents call them for playoff information.

"If somebody calls and asks me things about Corona, I'm not going to give them anything," Stilwell laughed. "And I know that Mike and Dave are going to do the same thing. We'll be nice but what we'll probably do is try to pick the other person's brain. Then we'll call each other up and share what we found out. So the other leagues may as well take notice that this is a tight deal."

Indeed.

"I can't say enough about the three of them," Norco athletic director Dave Reid said. "I like the whole situation they've created. It's really positive for our league."

IRV OLINER SHARES HIS LOVE FOR WRESTLING THROUGH PHOTOGRAPHY

Irv Oliner has been taking photographs of wrestling for some 30 years. He's never been paid for his work, but that's OK with Irv. He simply loves the sport and the art of photography.

Oliner, 70, a retired pharmacist, who is a fixture at various CIF Southern Section wrestling championship events, was presented with an award from the CIF State Wrestling Coaches Association this year for his contributions to the sport of wrestling. The award: "The Irv Oliner Award."

The award will be given every year from now on to an individual who has significantly contributed to high school wrestling.

Oliner, of Los Angeles, who has been a photographer for USA Wrestling, among many other organizations, retired after 49 years as a pharmacist last December. But he continues to photograph wrestling, taking his camera to such events as the Pacific-10 Championships, California Junior College Championships and Junior Olympics over the years.

In 1993, Oliner was named Photographer of the year by USA Wrestling Magazine.

But awards and honors aren't the reason why

IRV OLINER

Oliner photographs wrestling.

"I just love the action of wrestling," Oliner said. "It's an exciting sport that I never get tired of."

Oliner said he first became interested in wrestling when he saw a few boys who lived in his apartment complex compete. That was more than 30 years ago.

"They showed me wrestling pictures in the magazines and I thought the pictures weren't very good," Oliner said. "I thought I could do better. So I started shooting some local high school matches and my interest just grew from there."

So did the quality of his photographs. Oliner has shot wrestling all around the country. He's even shot an entire family of wrestlers: grandfather to grandson.

The keys to good wrestling photography, Oliner said, is to know something about the sport and to have patience. "The pictures aren't set up for you," Oliner said. "You can't tell someone to pull a move again just because you missed the shot."

What makes a good wrestling picture?
"You want to have good facial expressions," Oliner said, "because that's what tells the story."
