President's message

By Dr. Ken Gunn, President CIFS-SSF Executive Committee

Last week was especially tough for the staff and students at Walnut High School. Our wrestling star, Wally Curtis, died of a heart attack. It was anything but a complete surprise. Wally had suffered greatly over the last few years and we saw him deteriorate physically right before our eyes. The unique thing about Wally's path, however, was that he practically did not have to work out. He was always up, always optimistic, and kept telling all of us that he was going to win. He was truly an inspiration. Many of those close to Coach Curtis knew that the thing keeping him alive was his love of coaching and his passion for the wrestling team. Over the last few weeks he had not been strong enough to teach his business classes, but he did his best to get to wrestling practice. On our Dr. Martin Luther King holiday, Wally finished an afternoon practice and left for dialysis appointment. He died during the treatment.

Coach Wally Curtis was a legend in the wrestling community. He had won just about every honor a coach could achieve. He had won multiple state championships, coached a host of individual champions and been named coach of the Year, All-State. He was the epitome of a coach and a statesman. That is what made Wally special. What made this man truly unique was his total commitment to his sport and his athletes. It was the way he treated others and the high moral and ethical standards he stood by. It is a test I never saw Wally Curtis coach team that wasn't totally prepared. I never saw one of Wally's wrestlers who didn't perform to the best of his ability. I never saw Wally portray, in any way, an inferiority complex. I never heard Wally deme, belittle or make fun of an opponent. I never saw Wally embarrass any athlete. He was the ultimate role model. It was not a surprise that the crowd at his funeral service completely overflowed the.

Often times the phrase "crowd control" carries a negative connotation. In the mind's eye, one likely to occur at some athletic contests. However, narrow this interpretation may be, it is true in some cases. But looking at the broader picture, such precautionary measures cannot be considered overdone. Crowd control is the single most important safeguard involving a substantial number of spectators, regardless of the likelihood of unruly behavior. Crowd control should be a positive subject. Perhaps a more apt phrase might be "crowd management."

STATE CIF WELCOMES ARCO am/pm AS LATEST TITLE SPONSOR

Reinforcing its commitment to California youth, ARCO am/pm is the title sponsor of the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF) for the 1995-96, 1996-97 and 1997-98 school years. Under the agreement, ARCO Products Company, the refining and marketing division of Atlantic Richfield Company, will pay a sponsorship contribution of $500,000 per year over the next three years. “We are very excited about finalizing our sponsorship agreement with CIF,” said Steve Ruff, Senior Vice President of Marketing for ARCO Products Company. “Now our am/pm franchises and their employees can begin working with local high schools to help raise much needed funding for their athletic budgets.”

Through its sponsorship, ARCO am/pm satisfies CIF’s requirement that all title sponsors continue to be a viable part of both public and private school extracurricular activities throughout the year.

“Not only will participating high schools benefit directly from these fund-raisers, but ARCO’s sponsorship enables CIF and its 10 sections to continue holding key school play-off and championship games in our class facilities while keeping CIF fees to a minimum,” said Jack Hayes, CIF Executive Director.

“Displaying their excitement for the sponsorship, ARCO am/pm executives assisted in the awards presentations at many of the fall CIF championship events.”

ARCO am/pm, James Sourkes, participated in the CIF Men’s I football championship.

“Through the ongoing sponsorship, am/pm will continue to take part in CIF events, lending their support for high school athletics and their local teams.”

ARCO and CIF are currently rolling-out a two-year marketing program designed to help raise community awareness of the need for public support of prep athletics programs, as well as local high schools in generating additional funding for all sports.

ARCO and CIF will also maintain a special community support fund for high schools in CIF conferences.

To help develop community interaction between local high schools and nearby am/pm convenience stores, ARCO will offer and special "Support Our High School Athleti" promotion at participating locations where customers can purchase a 64oz. fountain drink.

"We hope to begin developing a strong sense of community support between the local high school and the neighboring am/pm stations," said Karen Eadon, ARCO’s Vice President of Retail Marketing. "This promotion like this helps raise awareness for our products and our community participation plays in our high school athletic programs."

A second promotion that began this fall enables high schools to raise funds directly for their programs. For each 12 oz. cup of fountain drink purchased, customers can use their sports bottles for special refill drinks for 59 cents at participating am/pm stations. Each school athletic group participating in the program sets its own price for the special sports bottles.

"The potential for success and the variety of options for in-school sales promotions like this are tremendous for the athletic department and school sports club," said Tom Triggs, CIF Executive Director.

CIF-SF BULLETIN - Winter 1995-96
MINUTES OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING November 29, 1995

The November meeting of the CIF-SJS Executive Committee was held to discuss a variety of items, including rule changes and program updates. The agenda included discussions on athletic programs, rule changes, and student eligibility. The meeting was attended by several committee members, including representatives from different schools and districts.

ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATORS SYMPOSIUM TRACKS SPORTS MARKETING

The 16th Annual Athletic Administrators Symposium took on a different look in 1996. This year's list of workshops showcased a symposium that is essential to the athletic programs of today, MARKETING! With the school athletic budgets tighter than ever, every attempt should be made to maximize your existing funds while helping in the areas that need help the most.

This year's list of speakers featured a pair of the sports industry's finest marketing experts, plus one of the most female athletes ever.

Roy Engbrecht, President and Managing Partner of the Laker Girls of the Arena Football League, puts new meaning to the word promotions. As the Director of Promotions for the Los Angeles Lakers, Los Angeles Kings and the Forum, Engbrecht introduced innovative ideas such as the world famous Lakers Girls. Engbrecht has also been involved in professional baseball, having served as Executive Vice President of the Minnesota Twins.

Bill Robertson, who started his career with the Los Angeles Lakers, has become a major force in the sports industry. Robertson began his career with the Lakers in 1975 and has since moved on to become one of the most respected names in the business.

The Symposium's keynote speaker is one of the finest female athletes ever to come out of the CIF Southern Section. Last year, Ann Meyers Drysdale was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame. A graduate of Sonora High School in La Habra, Ann earned 13 most valuable player awards in her prep sports career. Due to the limited opportunities in women's athletics in the 1970s, it is believed that Ann was the first woman ever to play on a boys high school basketball team.

Ann was also the first woman to receive a full athletic scholarship to UCLA. She holds nearly all the women's basketball records at UCLA and became the first woman ever to have her jersey number retired by the school. She was also the first four-time Kodak All-American and received the Broadrick Cup in 1978.

Ann's other "firsts" include being the first high school girl basketball player to play on the U.S. National Team and she was the first woman to be signed to a NCAA contract when she signed as a free agent with the Indiana Pacers.

Currently, Ann is a broadcaster for CBS, TBS, and ESPN.

Aside from the words of wisdom from these fine speakers, the symposium featured many vendors who always have a wonderful selection of new products and ideas for your sporting events and fund raisers.

The Southern Section enjoyed presenting this symposium and we hope that you picked up a great deal of information that can be applied at your school, but that you also had a lot of fun.

Bill Robertson begins his third year as Director of Public Relations for Disney Sports Enterprises, Inc.

Robbie is President of the NBA's Minnesota Timberwolves and is the Target Center, where he was in charge of the Timberwolves' entertainment and marketing efforts.

The CIF Southern Section was pleased to have one of the great supporters of high school sports in southern California as its Master of Ceremonies at the 20th Annual Football Press Conference Luncheon held at the Sequoia Athletic Club in Buena Park on December 4, 1995.

"The Coach" John Kentera of XTRA SPORTS RADIO 690, emceed the conference, which is intended to bring together the coaches and players of teams that may not usually cover. It is also a great way of promoting sportsmanship between the competing teams, by allowing the players to meet each other in a friendly environment.

Also on hand at the press conference were Dr. Ken Gunn, President of the CIF Southern Section Council; Margie Godfrey, Treasurer of the Council; Dom Clikock, Executive Committee Member; Dean Cry, CIF Commissioner of Athletics; Bill Clark and Karen Halyer, Assistant Commissioners and numerous Southern Section corporate sponsors.

A Southern Section thank you to John Kentera for a job well done and for his continued support of Southern Section athletics.

NEWLY FORMED HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEE HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The inaugural meeting was held at CIF-SSF headquarters on January 11, 1996, and the main topic on the agenda was the identification of the purpose and the direction of the Committee. The overarching concern was that the CIF Southern Section needed to keep on striving to "level the playing field," that there must be equal opportunities for participation in all levels of competition available. Other concerns included the use of racial slurs during contests, trash talk, and taunting. Among the topics discussed were sensitivity training for coaches, officials, and the school population with regards to today's racial climate.

"This is a very exciting time for high school athletics," said Cry. "This has been a long time coming and the CIF Southern Section is committed to provide our kids with a safe and fair place to compete in sports activities."

COMPTON HIGH CELEBRATES 100 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

From a one-room schoolhouse in 1896 to a school with nearly 1,800 students, Compton High School has enjoyed tremendous academic and athletic success. In 1996, the school celebrates the 100th Anniversary of the school's opening with numerous events throughout the year.

The Compton High School 100th Year Celebration Committee, chaired by Michael Hopwood, has put together a calendar that is sure to "rekindle the pride of the alumni, teachers, and the community to assist Compton High in its journey to recovery and rediscovery."

The year long celebration kicked off with a parade through downtown Compton on December 9. On January 4, the school had its alumni basketball game at the Eddie Thomas Gymnasium. The game featured members of the teams that won back-to-back CIF Southern Section Championships in 1968 and 1969 against a group of former Compton High players. Also honored at the alumni was a number of other past basketball championship squads including the first back-to-back CIF-SSF champions of 1951 and 1952.

Among the many activities planned for the centennial celebration are Compton Night with the Clippers (Clippers vs. Lakers, Feb. 22), Senior Breakfast and Scholarship Award Program (June 15), 100 Year Cook-off and Vintage Car Show (July 6), School Dance Marathon (August 17), Alumni Football Game (Sept.) and the Christmas Party (Dec. 21).

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP: A MATTER OF CLASS
Submitted by Drew Potthoff, Sycamore High School, Sycamore

The scene: It's a Friday night at a high school varsity basketball game in Anytown, USA. The gym is packed with student, parent, and fans chanting and shouting wildly for their respective teams. Banners are flying and towels waving; all the fans are dressed from head to toe in their team's colors. The band is playing while the cheerleaders are encouraging the crowd to raise their voice; their hands, and their atmosphere. The noise is at its highest decibel, and an electricity is in the air. It's a heart-pounding, finally home-game atmosphere. On the floor the contest has been close for three-plus quarters, but the lead has changed hands six or seven times, and hearts rise and fall with every shot. The clock ticks to less than 30 seconds to play, and the home team is down by one point. As the opponent holds the ball, the crowd holds its breath. In a flash, a home-town win becomes a possible dream. Fists bunch, and the crowd cheers. The ball is tipped away and a turnover on the other team. The ball is stolen and dribbled to the left of the lane. Six seconds on the clock. The ball is passed to the offense, then passed off as the clock ticks away.

Do not misinterpret this article as written by someone who does not want to watch any game of basketball. This author is one who wants to see the game played on the court and the spectators in the stands cheering the players. The author is also one who wants to see the fans support the home team and not any one team. This author is one who wants the fans to understand the meaning of good sportsmanship.

The purpose of this article is not to paint a picture of gloom and doom in high school athletics. On the contrary, it is to point out the many benefits derived from high school athletics. The great lessons learned in team sports and work, effort, and teamwork, and goal setting should not be overshadowed by the unenviable actions and reactions of everyone involved. The author believes that games should be more enjoyable for all. The author believes that games should be more enjoyable for all. The author believes that games should be more enjoyable for all. The author believes that games should be more enjoyable for all.

a friendly spirit towards athletic opponents and game officials when things are going well. The test of sportsmanship and self-dicipline comes when the decisions and "breaks" are against the other way. If such positive attitudes are exhibited by participi- ants and spectators alike, athletics are at their highest level.

The principal of the school, of course, is charged with the prime responsibility for the health and safety of his student body. Assisting him with various aspects of crowd control management for interscholastic athletics will be, among others, assistant principals, athletic directors, coaches, and other members of the faculty.

Every school has its own emotional climate, and the crowd management problem is unique to each individual school and should reflect this. Basically speaking, though, three general areas should be covered.

1. Preparation: Induction of student body to act in sportsmanlike manner at athletic events.

2. Prevention: Assignment of adequate supervisory and law enforcement personnel.

3. Reaction: Prompt and appropriate reaction by cheerleaders, band directors, or law enforcement personnel to objectionable or potentially dangerous behavior.

Inter-scholastic athletics are extra-curricular activities provided for the athlete’s ben- efit, primarily – not the student body or the community, and we all share a common responsibility to protect our athletics and our athletic programs. One of the means to this end is proper crowd management.

church. It was composed of coaches, teachers, officials, parents, ex-athletes and "this team."

I am aware of all the things Wally had done for us and realized how much we would all miss him. It occurred to me that other schools have their own version of Coach Curtis. In the ear when we hear so much about coaches who splice game films, who knowingly play ineligible athletes, who are ejected from contests, who condone and even promote trash talk and racial slurs, and who blame everyone from officials to their own kids for losses, I believe it is time we recognized the Wally Curtises. I know there are a lot more of them than the critics would like us to believe. I would like to ask each of you to identify those coaches on your staff or that coach who was a major influence in your life. You could say to them or write a lot.

"THANKS COACH" would probably do.
