PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Athletic Classroom -Preparing Quality People

By Tom Triggs, President CIF-SS Executive Committee

We are all diminished by the alarming rise in the never justified use of profanity whether on the field, court and track, or in the pool. This development only serves to denigrate our heartfelt purpose of athletics - the betterment of our young students and ultimately ourselves. While there are of course incredibly complex factors that have caused and continue to cause this dissolution of civility, we can point up three which exist in sport itself, and therefore, we can take steps necessary to remedy such factors:

- Certain quarters of the coaching ranks incorrectly believe profanity is an effective and appropriate method to motivate the student athlete;
- 2. Some coaches incorrectly believe profanity is acceptable because athletes and coaches at the collegiate and professional levels commonly use profanity (which is often highlighted through instant replay);
- 3. Coaches and athletes appear above reprisal. For example, Roberto Alomar, Baltimore Orioles baseball player, spit in the face of an umpire this past season without effective reprisal.

As school administrators, athletic directors, teachers, and coaches, we cannot tolerate profanity in high school athletics. The coach is first a teacher. We surely would not countenance the use of profanity in the classroom. Why then would we permit it on the field, the court, the track or the pool? We are not charged with responsibility of shaping athletes. We are charged with the responsibility of shaping lives which may be enriched with and honored by participation in athletics.

As we all know, and in many cases have experienced first hand, the coach can become singularly the most influential person in a student's life. As an adult, the coach shall model the behavior expected of our youth. There will be no compromise.

ACI JOINS WILSON AND CONLIN BROS AS SOUTHERN SECTION SPONSORS

The CIF Southern Section welcomes Alliance Communications International, Inc. (ACI) as sponsors for the 1996-97 school year. The agreement makes them the "Official Long Distance Company of the CIF-SS."

Addressing the new sponsorship arrangement, CIF Southern Section Commissioner Dean Crowley said, "We're pleased to have ACI as our newest sponsor. Their dedication to our youth is certainly commendable."

Said Robert Lamb, Chief Executive Officer of ACI, "We are very proud to be the 'Official Long Distance Company of the CIF Southern Section'. Our services, through F.T.I., utilize the underlying carrier networks of the biggest names in the industry, i.e. AT&T, MCI and others. This insures quality, reliable, money saving services to all parents, supporters and businesses who join to support our schools and children."

"Our turn-key fund raising package we offer to all CIF-SS schools, is second to none," continued Lamb. How does it work? Each time a parent, supporter or business signs up, a portion of their total long distance bill goes towards supporting the schools of the CIF Southern Section. Plus, there is no cost to sign up, no inventory to track, no cash collection, and above all, generates revenue month in and month out! "It is truly an honor for us to earmark funds to continually support the athletic futures of our children," added Robert Lamb.

For more information about this great fundraiser, please call toll free (800) 203-0452.

The betterment of interscholastic athletics is the foundation on which the CIF Southern Section has built its relationship with Wilson Sporting Goods and Conlin Bros., both long time supporters of the CIF-SS.

Wilson is currently in its eleventh year as the "Official Ball of the CIF-SS." Wilson furnishes complimentary balls to all championship teams in the sports of football, softball, baseball and boys and girls volleyball, basketball, soccer, tennis and golf.

Said Bill Butler, Western Regional Sales Manager of Wilson Sporting Goods, "We are very proud to be involved with a first rate organization and group of people such as the CIF Southern Section. We are also very excited to be working with high school athletics. We feel that high school athletics are a key foundation to a young person's growth. We look forward to building on our relationship with high schools in the CIF Southern Section and your fine organization.

For more information or to order Wilson balls for your team, please contact Bill Butler or Ron Carpenter at (714) 669-1901.

Conlin Bros., the "Official Sporting Goods Team Dealer of the CIF-SS," is also in its eleventh year as a CIF-SS corporate sponsor. March 15, 1997 will mark Conlin Bros. fifty-first year in business since it opened its doors on Fifth and Fairfax in Los Angeles.

"Many of our customers don't know we have been manufacturing, installing and repairing gym and playground equipment for 27 of those years," said Ken Conlin, Chairman of the Board of Conlin Bros. Sporting Goods. "We have a fully equipped shop for the fabrication of worn or damaged parts, and we have found that a lack of replacing parts is the leading cause of costly and unnecessary equipment replacement," added Conlin.

Conlin Bros. also specializes in installation of new equipment and outfitting teams with equipment, uniforms and related supplies for all events.

For more information on equipment supplied, installed or repaired or for a free quote, please contact Conlin Bros. at (800) 423-4695.

"On behalf of the CIF Southern Section, I am pleased to be associated with these fine organizations," said Dean Crowley, CIF-SS Commissioner. Through the years, both Wilson and Conlin Bros. have shown the ability to promote participation and equal playing fields by providing quality products for all athletic events. I salute them for their dedication and highly encourage member schools to consider these companies when purchasing goods and services," added Crowley.

ACI, Wilson and Conlin Bros. join statewide sponsors ARCO am/pm and Herff Jones, along with section sponsors Daniel Freeman Hospitals, Gatorade, Pacific Bell Smart Yellow Pages, West Coast Sports Medicine Foundation, TLC Sportswear and Hansen Beverage Company.

Human Relations Committee Update

By Dean Crowley Commissioner of Athletics

It has been a year now since the inception of the CIF Southern Section's Human Relations Committee. The committee was born out of one of the ugliest incidents in Section history, where an official was assaulted by an athlete. At that time we made a pledge to learn from that incident, a pledge that we would not sit idle when this type of situation occurs in our school comminities.

The Human Relations Committee has now met numerous times with its subcommittees meeting several times also. The committee has made a great deal of progress and this means good news for our administrators, coaches, athletes, and officials. The following is a progress report along with the items in the planning stages.

This past year, the Human Relations Committee has met with the leaders of all the officiating organizations to discuss human relations and sportsmanship. Committee members have also met with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department to discuss their Cultural Awareness Program. Additionally, the committee has developed an Athlete's Code of Ethics and a Coaches' Code of Ethics, with the hope that every one of the section's 500 schools adopt them for use in their athletic programs. Also, a crisis intervention team has been created to handle incidents that may arise out of Southern Section competition. In fact, members of the committee have been out to numerous contests to observe the behavior of the fans, coaches, athletes, and officials.

As you can see, the committee has moved forward at a great pace. Without a doubt, the second year of this endeavor is looking very positive. The observation of contests will continue, as will the meetings with various officials' organizations. A major workshop in conjunction with the activities directors to highlight diversity, understanding, and ethics is in the planning stages. The committee is also hoping to cultivate its relationship with the Sheriff's Department and other community groups. More directly, the committee is attempting to formulate stricter rules and regulations pertaining to multiple unsportsmanlike infractions.

ARCO am/pm "ADOPT-A-HIGH SCHOOL" CAMPAIGN SPRINGS INTO ACTION

"Adopt-A-High School," the major local store marketing campaign launched by CIF, title sponsor ARCO and its am/pm franchisees, has resulted in CIF high schools ordering "Adopt-A-High School" Fundraising Kits to generate funds for their sports programs. The kits contain a deluxe 44 oz. sports bottle and a 20 oz. wide-bottom coffee mug refillable at am/pm stores. Each kit contains a prepaid telephone calling card and samples of sports trading cards from Upper Deck and Sky Box. ARCO am/pm, through

"The 'Adopt-A-High School' Program really hits at the core of why we're aligned with the CIF," said Jim Scourkes, ARCO Promotions Manager. "We're excited that the schools are ordering the kits. It's a great way for them to raise funds for their athletic programs, and it's a great value for the school's fans because the sports bottle and the mug are high quality items."

An assortment of other fund-raising opportunities were described in an "Adopt-A-High School" program mailing that was delivered to all CIF high schools in November and December. These opportunities include local marketing programs designed to get the local am/pm retailer working with the high school(s) in their area.

ARCO is nearing the third year of its commitment to the CIF. The company will continue to focus its marketing activities at the local level in order to create strong relationships between its retailers and local area high schools. "Adopt-A-High School' is starting to make school representatives and students aware of the strong commitment ARCO am/pm retailers have to high school sports, especially at the neighborhood level,"

TWO SOUTHERN SECTION ADMINISTRATORS RECEIVE STATE CIF DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARDS

The State CIF honored two of the Southern Section's finest with the Distinguished Service Award. Two longtime principals, Hanford Rants and Tony Balsamo, were bestowed this prestigious award. The awards were presented to Dr. Rants and to Mrs. Pepper Balsamo at the October 24 council meeting at the Sequoia Athletic Club in Buena Park.

Both these men are so highly thought of, that each has a building named in their honor on the respective campuses they so diligently served. The stadium at Gahr High School is named Hanford Rants Stadium and the newschool theater at Apple Valley High School is named the Tony Balsamo Fine Arts Center.

Hanford Rants was an infantry sergeant in World War II. After his return to the United States, he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education from Washington State. He then went on to get his Masters Degree in Science also at Washington State and his Doctorate in Education from USC.

Rants' career in education began as a mathematics and history teacher and coach at Wapato High School in Washington in 1949. In 1954, he became an assistant principal, then principal at South Junior High in South Gate. He was named principal of Gahr High School in 1968, and remained there until 1981. From 1984 to 1988, Rants was the principal of Brethren High School in Paramount.

Along with his 38 years of education, Rants also served as President to the Southern Section Council and was on the State CIF Federated Council for 3 years (1978-81). Rants and his wife of 50 years, Shirley, have three children, Jon, Jay, and Jack.

Tony Balsamo was an alumnus of Arizona State University where he was a four-year varsity athlete in football. He then went on to teach and coach at Palo Verde College in Blythe and at New Mexico State University.

Balsamo was a teacher.

coach, counselor, athletic director, and assistant principal at Victor Valley High School (1957-67) prior to taking over as the first principal at Apple Valley High School. He was the principal at Apple Valley for 21 years before his retirement in 1988. Balsamo was also instrumental in the fund-raising effort that led to the construction of Newton T. Bass Stadium at Apple Valley.

A former president of the Southern Section and State Federated Councils, Balsamo went on to become the vice president of the National Federation of State High School Associations from 1987-88. Tony Balsamo recently passed away and is survived by his wife, Pepper, and daughter, Toni.

THE DO'S AND DON'TS OF UNDUE INFLUENCE

RULE

REVIEW

When dealing with those people interested in your school and its athletic program, whether they be parents or student, there is a great deal of concern regarding possible undue influence violations. The consequences for these violations can significant to the eligibility of students as well as the schools. Therefore, it is suggested that administrators, athletic directors and coaches review the following "do's and don'ts" list. This is not a complete list but it is one that should cover most instances. If there are additional questions, please do not hesitate to call your Southern Section Office.

DO

- * Refer all questions regarding enrollment in your school to the administration.
- * Access incoming enrolled new students when their and your school year is completed. (Summer programs)
- * Remember if you attend club program events, you are vulnerable to undue influence accusations.
- * When in doubt, refer questions to your administration

SOUTHERN SECTION CLAIMS TWO CIF SCHOLASTIC STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

In a new scholastic recognition program, two Southern Section teams topped the state in overall team grade point average in their respective sports, thus claiming CIF Scholastic State Championships. Adopted by the State Federated Council last spring, this program honors the teams and individuals competing in sports that offer state championships.

For the fall season of sport, Armenian General Benevolent Union (AGBU) claimed the girls volleyball title with a cumulative GPA of 3.89. Team members include Karoun Baghmian, Mary Hartunian, Seline Okutan, Christine Abgaryan, Alice Abrahamian, Anett Abrahmian, Tahlin Avedian, and Nazik Halborian. In girls cross country, Yucaipa was the champion with team members Beth Grossheim, Kersten Galbrath, Brenna Biggers, Nicole Burton, Lisa Eaton, Susan Gruber, Sara Ingram, Natalie Podesta, Angela Ritter, Andrea Miller, and Heidi Rhodes. The Thunderbirds, also cross country's Division II champion, had a team GPA of 3.88

by Mary Lynn, Morton, IL

Hey! There's Steven Carl Flite! Yea sure, you know who: the star of the team from '72. Steven was one of those know-it-all sorts: who thought he knew everything there was about sports. At the games he would yell out the things on his mind; more often than not they were not very kind. The crowd would cringe: they'd beg "Please pipe down!" "I can yell if I want to," he'd snarl with a frown.

He'd yell at the ref when a whistle would blow; gleefully letting his ignorance show. "You're pathetic, you're awful! Hey Ref, are you blind? You're rotten! You must be clean out of your mind!" He took great pleasure; he'd yell and he'd scream horrible taunts at the visiting team. "You're horrible, you're awful. Your playing is sad! You should be ashamed that your team is so bad!" He'd yell at the coaches as loud as he could, when a play didn't go as he felt that it should. "You're pathetic, you're awful! You're rotten, you stink! I could do better! That's just what I think!" He was sure he was right; he was sure they could win; if only those coaches would put his son in. Up in the stands with his pals all agreeing, he'd loudly comment on the game he was seeing. "Those coaches are idiots, all no-nothing jerks; if I were the coach, I could make our team work!"

One warm autumn evening, the home team was losing. No one was safe from Steven's abusing. "It's our coach's fault! There can be no denying' He's asleep down there! He's not even trying!" The coaches has had it; they'd had guite enough. Then and there they decided to call Steven's bluff.

They called a time out and went up in the stands; then they put all the play books right in his hands. "Here you go and good riddance," was all that they said; while the crowd groaned loudly with visible dread. Steven was thrilled;' he'd sure show them all. He put his son in and made his first call But the play didn't work. They fumbled on ten; and the other team had the ball right back again. It got much worse. There was no ignoring; the visiting team did all of the scoring. Things just didn't go the way he had thought; 80 negative yards was all that he got.

His pals had turned on him; in the stands they were jeering. He couldn't believe the taunts he was hearing. They were loud and obnoxious and above all the din: he didn't know who to take out or who to put in. "This is not my fault!" he said to himself. "It's that stupid QB who belongs on the shelf!: Spitting and cursing, he called the kid out; then pointing his finger he started to shout. "You're pathetic! You're awful! You're rotten! You stink!" He glared at the kid, then felt his heart sink. "But Dad," the boy whispered, "I had nowhere to run." Then tears filled the eyes of Steven Carl's son.

They ended the game on account of the score. The refs hadn't the heart to make them play more. the crowd shuffled out. They turned off the last light. They left Steven there; alone in the night. He covered his ears to block out the ringing, of the echoing sounds of the crowd loudly singing. "You're pathetic! You're awful! You're rotten! You stink! You're one lousy coach and that's what we think!"

And so, Steven Carl Flite, the fan extraordinare', realized things were quite different down here than up there. There will always be people like of Steven Flite; who think everyone's wrong, since he's always right.

You see, yelling and shouting is always such fun, when it isn't his job that's under the gun. He won't put the shoe on the other foot, even a minute, to see his big mouth has that same foot stuck in it. He knows good sportsmanship is a rule of the game but thinks that for him, the rules aren't the same. So, if your spectating has a loud know-it-all leaning; please do us a favor, if you'll just catch my meaning. Take the time to re-read the words in this poem, then do us a favor and just stay home!

SPORTSMANSHIP AND THE WRITTEN RULES

By Tom Fakehany, Volleyball Southern California Style

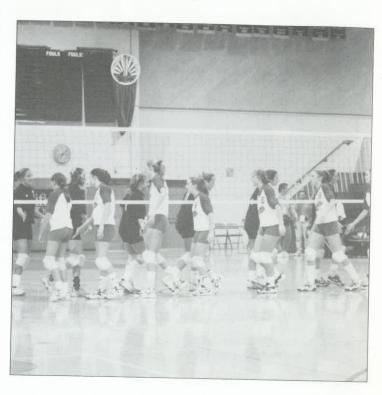

Of all the virtues that the sports volleyball fosters, sportsmanship is perhaps the most frequently cited. To define sportsmanship is both cryptic and laborious. In athletics, it is not sufficient to use a dictionary's definition which confines the term to the exhibition of sportsman- like behavior

Unfortunately, regardless of how often the term is used in athletics, positive behaviors are often absent. The contradiction between what is heard and what is observed has produced questions as to the relevance or existence of sportsmanship in volleyball. The mere suggestion that sportsmanship has almost become passe should alert coaches, parents and fans that all is not well in the ethical arena of athletics.

The assumption that good sportsmanship or fair play is being taught or required on the volleyball courts of America is being challenged regularly. Too often the ideals, which have been historically associated with the sport of volleyball, are being replaced with behaviors or expectations which can be described, at best, as professional or, at worst, as cheating and intimidation. Too often coaches would not follow through with specific goals related to sportsmanship. Some coaches de-emphasized fair play, fun, and skill development in the course of a regular season as winning became more important. In some cases, statements are made to me, "There is (a) flagrant disregard for sportsmanship and discipline in relationships with both teammates and opponents." Coaches should remember that teaching players to play only by the written rules is not always a positive coaching attribute, as a sign of good sportsmanship overlooks instances in sport when behavioral expectations are unwritten. Numerous components of "sportsmanship" do or table or purposely stopping play when an opponent is injured are not appear in any formal depiction of rules and regulations, but are recognized for their integral function in the development and exhibition of positive behaviors.

I should not have to point out that there is much more to playing sports than abiding only by the written rules of the game. There are few sports which have written rules that mandate players shake hands after a match, not run up scores beyond a specific margin, not whine when losing, or not complain when a referee's call goes against them. These behaviors are considered as indications of sportsmanship. Likewise, positive behaviors such as helping an opponent up, preventing him/her from crashing into a sideline bench unwritten expectations of good sportspersons and should be taught and applauded at any level of play. Unfortunately, some believe that those behaviors are either naive, inappropriate in vital matches or, even worse, a sign of weakness in a truly competitive athlete.

Understanding the existence of unwritten rules is relatively simple, the recognition that "protecting each other is a part of teamwork" as an unsportsmanlike behavior is more ambiguous. Clarification is necessary to determine to what extent a player should go to protect a teammate. Should players break a rule or become violent themselves in the protection of teammates, or should they walk away from a confrontation and allow the referee to protect players by enforcing the rules? Retaliation in the name of protection should not be encouraged, but protecting a player who is in imminent danger from the behavior of an opponent is another matter. Is a defender who physically confronts a forward who physically bumps the team's goalie just protecting his teammate or should he allow the referee to decide the degree of infraction? Is a pitcher who throws a "brush back" pitch at an opponent after the opponent's pitcher has hit a teammate guilty of poor sportsmanship?

These situations represent actual occurrences in sports which need to be examined and discussed by parents, coaches, players

Often the positive accounts of sportsmanship are fuzzy . . . a picture whose edges are blurred, but the complexity of the attitudes retained. This natural ambiguity illuminates the need for a clear determination of what is meant by sportsmanship. If sportsmanship is a dinosaur on the road to extinction, the culprit is how winning is perceived by the adults involved. Winning is the social narcotic which often replaces fun as the primary force in sports. The policy of winning at all costs is the surest way of extinguishing the spirit of play in sports. The fallout of this policy is the dreary succession of firings in college and professional sports. Such an emphasis on victory detaches the last moment from the whole game and fixes the outcome apart from the proper context. It reduces the appreciation of the performance, threatens the proper disposition towards the rules and turns the contest into a power struggle.

SHUMARD AND MORRISON HIGHLIGHT 1996-97 SPORTS MARKETING SYMPOSIUM

The CIF Southern Section presented its 17th annual CIF-SS Sports Marketing/Athletic Administration Syposium on October 8, 1996 at the Sequioa Athletic Club in Buena Park. For the second consecutive year, the symposium's main focus was marketing and the way a solid marketing program can bring in additional funds into your programs.

Breakout sessions at the symposium tackled subjects such as "How to Improve Your Press Coverage" and "Marketing and Merchandising Opportunities of a Booster Club." Steve Irvine of the Long Beach Press-Telegram and David Osterman of the Orange County Register spoke on improving the media coverage, while Brea Olinda Football Booster President Tom Prenevost spoke on the latter topic.

The symposium also held a session on sportsmanship, with Dr. Russell Gough of Pepperdine University providing the words of wisdom, and a session on CIF Eligibility, with CIF-SS Commissioner Dean Crowley addressing the group. In between sessions, symposium attendees were able to visit the numerous vendor booths on display.

Perhaps the two highlights of the Symposium where the Keynote Address by San Jose State University Head Basketball Coach Stan Morrison and the words from Guest Speaker Bill Shumard, Athletics

Director of Long Beach State University.

Coach Morrison is also a frequent guest speaker at numerous basketball camps and he is Chairman of the Board of the High Five America basketball program which aims to fight "the war on drug and alcohol abuse. Now in his eighth year as basketball coach at San Jose State, Morrison was also the Athletics Director at UC Santa Barbara from 1986 to 1990 and Head Basketball Coach at USC from 1980 to 1986.

Shumard, another tremendous speaker, was the Director of Community Services and Special Events for the Los Angeles Dodgers for 14 years. Prior to his appointment as Athletics Director at Long Beach State, he was Assistant Athletics

DR. RUSSELL GOUGH speaks on sportsmanship at the 1996 CIF-SS Sports Marketing/Athletic Administrators Symposium.

NIKETOWN HONORS SOUTHERN SECTION'S FINEST

In an ongoing effort to support and salute the accomplishments of athletes who excel on and off the field of play, Niketown Orange County and Niketown Los Angeles continue to honor the section's finest student athletes in the Niketown Athlete of the Month program. In the award program's third year, Niketown remains committed to recognizing student athletes from all parts of the Southern Section.

The opening of Niketown Los Angeles has doubled the number of Athlete of the Month winners, thus increasing the recognition afforded to our deserving athletes. The Los Angeles location honors those athletes from

NIKETOWN

Los Angeles, Ventura, and Santa Barbara counties, while the Orange County location covers Orange, Riverside, and San Bernardino counties.

Americ awarde awarde athletic Nominations for the Athlete of the Month are taken up to the 15th of each month. Unlike many other awards programs, the Niketown athlete of the Month judges seek athletes who are not necessarily the most athletic or a superstar in their respective sport. In addition, the selection panel looks for those who are most inspirational and made the most out of their abilities - those who have contributed more than points or goals to their teams, schools, and communities.

Each Niketown recognizes six male and six female athletes on a monthly basis. The winners receive a congratulatory letter from Niketown Athlete of the Month national spokespersons Carl Lewis and Gabrielle Reece, along with getting their photo displayed at the respective Niketown.

From the Athletes of the Month, a Male and Female Athlete of the Year is selected in June. As part of Nike's commitment to the local communities, the Athletes of the Year will be selected, in part, by their service to their respective locales. N i k e 's P.L.A.Y. (Participate in the Lives of America's Youth) has also pledged a $1,000 donation to the awardees' choice of charity. Additionally, the athletes' respective athletic departments also receive a $1,000 contribution from Niketown.

Nomination forms are available from your school's athletic department, from Niketown Orange County, or Niketown Los Angeles. The award is available to student athletes of all grade levels with a 2.0 GPA or better.

PARTICIPATION IN HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS UP AGAIN IN CALIFORNIA

The number of boys and girls participating in high school athletics increased by 5.3% over the past two years according to the 1995-96 State CIF Sports Participation Survey. The total high school population in the state has also seen an increase of 3.8%, from 1,192,693 in 1993-94 to 1,283,609 in 1995-96. Girls athletics shows the greater increase, with an 8.1% jump in contrast to the boys 3.6% growth. A total of 195,803 girls and 318,336 boys took part in interscholastic sports last year, according to the survey.

In addition, the total number of participants has increased 81,467 from 423,796 over the past ten years. This shows a 18.8% increase overall, including a tremendous 38.8% gain in female participants (141,084 in 1986 to 195,803 in 1996).

The State CIF closely reflects the results from a National Federation of State High School Associations survey that shows a moderate increase in boys participation and a significant increase in female participants. The National Federation's 1995-96 survey indicates a 4.6% increase in boys participation and an 11.1% increase in girls participation over the same two year period. According to the study, 6,019,889 youths participated in high school athletics across the nation last school year.

In California, as it is nationwide, soccer is seeing a tremendous growth period. Statewide, girls soccer enjoyed a 19.7% increase, while boys soccer posted a 11.6% rise. Soccer experienced the highest percentage of growth in girls sports and golf gained the greatest popularity with a 15.5% increase. Football (82,053 athletes) is still the preferred sport for the boys and volleyball (28,035) is the most popular of the girls sports.

"Seeing more kids experiencing the values gained by participating in interscholastic sports is fantastic," said CIF Southern Section Commissioner Dean Crowley. Crowley adds, "We hope this trend continues for a long time."

thereby moving to defuse this situation hinges on the twin spirits of communication and cooperation. School administrators and athletic directors must understand and clearly communicate our "no tolerance" position with staff and students. Accordingly, when violations occur, immediate discipline must follow.

High school athletics is deservedly a valued activity in our communities and, as such, there is much more to lose from its devolution than just school spirit. The positive impact of athletic programs on our young students can better their lives in so many ways, that in the end, we call are bettered. We must categorically reinforce the belief that our role is not to simply provide the game of sport but more importantly...

Individually, student-athletes maintaining a 3.5 GPA during their season of sport are honored as Scholastic All-CIF award winners

COMMISSIONER'S CORNER

The CIF Southern Section will continue to be proactive and progressive in its ongoing effort to make athletic competition the highlight of a young person's life. With the dedicated people on the Human Relations Committee, I believe that we are definitely in the right direction.

PRESS CONFERENCE

The press conference gives the media an excellent opportunity for advanced interviews, as well meeting the coaches and players of teams they may not usually cover. It is also a great way of promoting sportsmanship between the competing teams, by allowing the players to meet each other in a friendly environment.

Also on hand at the press conference were Tom Triggs, President of the CIF Southern Section Council; Marge Godfrey, President-Elect of the Council; Dale Mitchell, Treasurer of the Council; Executive Committee Members, Dr. Harold Cebrun, Sharen Caperton, Donn Clickard, Susana Arce, Dr. Jack Clement and Barbra Johnson; Dean Crowley, CIF-SS Commissioner; Bill Clark and Karen Hellyer, CIF-SS Assistant Commissioners; along with numerous Southern Section corporate sponsors.

THE CIF SOUTHERN SECTION HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEE MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the CIF Southern Section Human Relations Advisory Committee is to assist those involved with interscholastic athletics (school districts, principals, athletics and activity directors, coaches, officials, students, parents and the community) in creating and promoting standards of ethical conduct, sportsmanship and respect for cultural, racial and/or differences in high school sports and related activities. Essential to this effort is the establishment of standards of conduct, enforced by appropriate consequences and sustained by a reasonable review process.
