PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Opportunity to Influence

By Margie Godfrey, President
CIF-SS Executive Committee

It is amazing to realize that we are already more than halfway through the 1998-99 school year. Each of you is to be commended for your leadership, commitment and efforts to ensure quality athletic experiences for the student-athletes of the CIF Southern Section. I am impressed with the caliber of coaching and administration I have seen as I've attended various events this year. Despite the influence of behaviors tolerated or accepted in some professional sports and promulgated by television and the media, the vast majority of high school programs are models of sportsmanship and ethical behavior. That speaks volumes to the powerful influence exerted by those of us associated with those programs, especially coaches. Coaches are in a unique and immeasurably important position to influence those they teach. That is never more important than today.

Coming of age in the instant information age subjects our kids to all manner of conflicting influences. Impeachment proceedings in Washington, D.C.; the highest paid professional athletes in the history of professional sports striking to remain the highest paid (or maybe become higher paid); magazine television programs three nights out of five featuring true stories most of us could not imagine as fiction; and instant, world-wide knowledge of every sordid, sad or scandalous event occurring. No wonder some kids get confused!

A recent study reported in Education Week (November 18, 1998), found that it appears students between grades 9 and 11 are spending more time in sports and studying than watching TV as compared to what they did in 1981. That is good news and underscores my contention that coaches have a greater than ever opportunity and responsibility to influence their students. This opportunity is one of the great rewards for all the hours, sweat and tears expended in this art we call coaching.

My hat is off to you and I'd bet there are hundreds, if not thousands of former high school athletes out there doing the same. You have had a profound influence on the quality of their lives.

SOUTHERN SECTION MARKETING UPDATE

TWO LONG TIME SUPPORTERS OF THE CIF-SS, WILSON SPORTING GOODS AND CONLIN BROS. SPORTING GOODS

Each school year, member schools purchase products and services that assist their overall athletic programs. These products consistently provide the necessary ingredients to meet the needs of student-athletes participating in sports activities.

Two long time supporters of the CIF-SS, Wilson Sporting Goods and Conlin Bros. Sporting Goods have consistently provided these quality products.

Wilson is currently in its 13th year as the "Official Ball of the CIF-SS." Wilson furnishes complimentary balls to all finalists in the sports of football, softball, baseball and boys and girls volleyball, basketball, soccer, tennis and golf.

Bill Butler, Western Regional Sales Manager of Wilson Sporting Goods, reflects that commitment. "Wilson is very grateful for our partnership with the CIF-SS, and we are excited about our relationship with you, the schools. Wilson is committed to the support of the grass roots part of sports. We have developed a league adoption program that assists each high school's ability to increase the effectiveness of their sport's budget."

The League Adoption Program is currently in its second year and its highlights include:

- * Free basketball racks for each school in the league provided each school signs the adoption.
- * League trophy for the league champion.
- * Free balls for every 12 game basketballs purchased through an authorized Wilson dealer.

If you are interested in Wilson's League Adoption Program, please call Bill Butler at (714) 669-1901, and he will assist you in learning about this great opportunity.

Conlin Bros. Sporting Goods, the "Official Sporting Goods Team Dealer of the CIF-SS," is also in its thirteenth year of sponsorship. Located in Whittier, Conlin Bros. has been in the business for over fifty years specializing in school and team sales throughout five counties in Southern California.

"We use the Southern Section as a reference of information and have enjoyed our relationship immensely," said Ken Conlin, Chairman of the Board of Conlin Bros.

Sporting Goods. Currently, our emphasis is directed toward maintenance and repair of indoor and outdoor athletic equipment. In addition, we specialize in installation of new equipment and service needs (for school-based athletic programs)," said Conlin. Conlin Bros. specializes in outfitting teams with equipment, uniforms and related supplies for all athletic events.

Another great supporter of the CIF-SS, USC University Hospital, is in its second year as the "Official Health Care Provider of the San Gabriel Valley." Their Excellence in Athletics High School Program is designed to help minimize injuries and ensure young athletes receive prompt, quality medical care.

This innovative community outreach program provides athletic trainer coverage for area high schools, low-cost pre-season physicals, free weekly Saturday morning injury clinics and educational seminars for coaches, athletes and student trainers. More than 3,000 high school athletes are currently involved in the Excellence in Athletics program, representing high schools in the San Gabriel area.

This program gives high school athletes access to specialist physicians and comprehensive services and provides a Certified Athletic Trainer for 10 hours per week to each participating high school. These athletic trainers are experts in injury prevention, evaluation, management and rehabilitation.

Other components of Excellence in Athletics include:

- * Preventive injury programs
- * Expertise and guidance in building training rooms
- * Subsidized secondary insurance plans to student athletes of participating high schools

COMMISSIONER'S CORNER

CIF
Coaching Education Program

By Dean Crowley
Commissioner of Athletics

As we head into the new millennium, it's more than just a little understatement when it's said that coaching has changed since the start of the current century. While change is not necessarily always good or bad, it does require an increased level of information.

All coaches want to be successful. But being successful is not just about wins and losses. To really be a success when teaching young people, it's important to know the terrain. To have a working knowledge of new techniques and skills both on and off the field. It is important to be able to have the ability to teach the fundamentals of each individual sport and the tools for success in life.

Coaches today also need to be able to have a handle on growing problems that are particular to the current student-athlete, such as drugs and alcohol, tobacco use and the threat of litigation. This requires them to wear many hats. Coach, teacher, counselor, and physician.

Due to all of these increased demands and responsibilities, it is more important than ever that coaches receive the continuing education they need to do the job and succeed.

The CIF Coaching Education Program (CIF-CEP) can help in providing that education. The program works to provide strong, pragmatic, comprehensive instruction for coaches in California. The training is consistent with the highest statewide standards for coaching in high school interscholastic athletics as set by the legislature, the state Department of Education, and the California Interscholastic Federation.

The strong educational program being presented by the CIF is backed by the California Legislature through Bill 2741, which has provided a $1 Million allocation, or up to $100.00 per coach, in dollar-for-dollar

NFHS ENCOURAGES PRE-PARTICIPATION PHYSICAL EVALUATIONS

KANSAS CITY, MO — The National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) Board of Directors, acting on a recommendation from the NFHS Sports Medicine Advisory Committee, has stated that pre-participation physical evaluations for high school student-athletes are a necessary and desirable precondition to inter-scholastic athletic practice and competition.

Since state laws and local conditions vary, however, the NFHS Board of Directors determined that the creation of a standardized national pre-participation physical evaluation procedure would not be practical.

Although a standardized national pre-participation procedure was not recommended at this time, the NFHS Sports Medicine Advisory Committee suggested that there are some common goals being pursued by organizations that require pre-participation physical evaluations. Because the athletic, medical and legal purposes served by such evaluations continue to evolve, the committee believes that such forms should be reviewed and revised on a regular basis.

BASEBALL BAT PERFORMANCE TO BE LIMITED

KANSAS CITY, MO — In one of its most significant moves in recent years, the NFHS Baseball Rules Committee has announced its intent to develop a standard that will limit bat performance in high school baseball, to be effective beginning January 1, 2000.

The rules committee will be reviewing available research and intends to announce a bat performance standard for high school baseball by October 31, 1998. Among other factors, the committee will consider the exit speed of the ball as it leaves the bat.

Any new bat rule adopted by the NFHS Baseball Rules Committee would be submitted for final approval to the NEHS Board of Directors.

According to Brad Rumble, NFHS assistant director and editor of the high school baseball rules, the standard will establish a maximum bat performance based on, and not greatly in excess of, maximum wood bat performance.

By regulating the bat performance to a more wood-like standard, the rule would help preserve the sound tradition of the sport, maintain balance between defense and offense, and help minimize the risk of injury," Rumble said.

Following is a portion of the statement formulated by the Sports Medicine Advisory Committee and adopted by the NFHS Board of Directors:

"In the opinion of the NFHS, promulgating organizations should review their student-athlete evaluation procedures not less often than every three years. Such reviews are often conducted in consultation with specially constituted sports medicine advisory committees or with physicians practicing in the fields of pediatrics, orthopedics or cardiology.

"The NFHS believes that each such review should include an assessment of the applicability of any recent statutory and regulatory actions. In addition, the reviewers may consider the proper frequency for such evaluations, whether use of a specific pre-participation physical evaluation form should be required, the appropriateness of any sport-specific assessment of a student-athlete's musculoskeletal, cardiovascular and body maturation status, and who should be authorized to perform

JOHN WOODEN CLASSIC INCLUDES ONE DAY OF HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

For just the second time ever in its five-year history, the John R. Wooden Classic basketball tournament was expanded from a one-day college doubleheader to a two-day event that featured high school teams leading off the festivities. For the first time, a girls game was added to the classic.

The John R. Wooden Classic High School Invitational was held on December 4 at the Arrowhead Pond of Anaheim and featured seven Southern California schools: Ayala, Brea-Olinda, Rancho Buena Vista (San Diego), Glendora, Los Alamitos, Dominguez and Mater Dei. It also included Texas state power Waltrip of Houston.

The first game of the day featured the two girls teams as rivals Brea-Olinda and Chino of Ayala squared off. Ayala found the going tough as the powerful Ladycats beat the Bulldogs, 72-46.

The first boys game featured the inter-sectional battle between Los Alamitos and Rancho Buena Vista. Los Alamitos used a big third quarter to post a 59-45 win. Waltrip and Dominguez tangled in game three as a young Dominguez team flexed their muscles in taking a 67-42 victory from the Rams. Game four was the featured game that pitted Mater Dei vs. Glendora. The Monarchs jumped out to an five-point lead at the half, but then could not hold-off the charging Tartans as Glendora took a 54-42 victory.

Established in 1994, the John R. Wooden Classic is an annual tribute to the legendary former UCLA coach and the excellence he personifies. The Wooden Classic is a celebration of the game of basketball and the activities benefit the Children's Miracle Network, Children's Hospital Los Angeles and Southern California High School athletics. This year's events included the annual showcase doubleheader featuring Kansas vs. Pepperdine and UCLA vs. Oklahoma State, December 5 at the Pond.

The classic also included a golf tournament at Newport's Pelican Hill Golf Club and the John R. Wooden Classic Banquet at the Hyatt Newporter in Newport Beach.

RULE REVIEW

Ejection =
One Game
Suspension

By Bill Clark

CIF-SS Assistant Commissioner

In any athletic event emotions can and do become heated at times. Sometimes those emotions are held in check and sometimes they are not.

When emotions rise to an unsportsman-like level, officials are faced with the unenviable task of getting things under control. It's at these times that ejections can and do come about.

What many athletic administrators, coaches and players sometimes fail to recognize is that those ejections come with consequences. Those consequences usually come in the form of one game suspensions.

It is an important reminder for all athletic administrators that they become informed of those ejections immediately.

Sometimes, at games that are played away from a school's home facility, athletic administrators are not made aware of an ejection. It is critically important that all efforts be made to have an open line of communication with regard to these ejections between the coach and the responsible administrator so that the proper actions be taken.

Proper actions meaning a counseling session with the ejected player or coach and a game suspension for the first contest following that ejection.

It is of the utmost importance that the suspension takes place. If a school fails to sit the ejected player or coach for the next contest, that school then forfeits the contest the ejected player or coach participated in.

Also, remember that there are additional consequences for second and third ejections.

Historical experience at the CIF Southern Section has been that if a school does not make sure that the suspension takes place,

THE CIF SOUTHERN SECTION HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEE MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the CIF Southern Section Human Relations Advisory Committee is to assist those involved with interscholastic athletics (school districts, principals, athletics and activity directors, coaches, officials, students, parents and the community) in creating and promoting standards of ethical conduct, sportsmanship and respect for cultural, racial and/or differences in high school sports and related activities. Essential to this effort is the establishment of standards of conduct, enforced by appropriate consequences and sustained by a reasonable review process.

JOHN KENTERA HIGHLIGHTS 1998 FOOTBALL PRESS CONFERENCE

The CIF Southern Section was again pleased to have one of the great supporters of high school sports in Southern California as its Master of Ceremonies at the 23rd Annual Football Press Conference Luncheon held at the Sequoia Athletic Club in Buena Park on December 7, 1998.

"The Coach" John Kentera OF XTRA Sports Radio 690, emceed the conference, which is intended to bring together the coaches and several players who participated in the championship contests of the 13 divisions of football, with the representatives of the local media. In addition, the champions of the two 8-man divisions were in attendance.

Kentera hosts the top-rated high school sports show on XTRA Sports. He is a sideline reporter for XTRA's broadcasts of San Diego Charger football games and hosts Charger Talk, XTRA's post-game show. John has his own general topic show on Monday through Friday, 12 to 2 p.m.

The press conference gives the media an excellent opportunity for advanced interviews, as well meeting the coaches and players of teams they may not usually cover. It is also a great way of promoting sportsmanship between the competing teams, by allowing the players to meet each other in a friendly environment.

Also on hand at the press conference were Marge Godfrey, President of the CIF Southern Section Council; Executive Committee Member Sharen Caperton; Dean Crowley, CIF-SS Commissioner; Bill Clark, Karen Hellyer, and Dr. Harold Cebrun CIF-SS Assistant Commissioners; along with numerous Southern Section corporate sponsors.

"KEEPERS OF THE GAME"

by Dr. Harold L. Cebrun, Sr.
CIF-SS Assistant Commissioner

Why do you continue to do what you do,
Perhaps, there is something seriously wrong with you;
You walk into the gym, shirt tucked in, shoes shined,
Only to find out that everyone there is not so kind.

Good teams, great teams, sometimes champions repeat,
Good days, bad days, through it all you take the heat;
Coaches, players and spectators tell you to be judicial,
You try to do what's right, night after night, yes, you are the official.

Teams win – you're good, teams lose – you're bad,
Some say you are the worst, to others, you're the best they've ever had;
Emotionally drained, physically spent, in the mirror who do you see,
You look real close and say to yourself, that person in the mirror is me.

You believe you're doing right, someone else says you're wrong,
After awhile, you're wishing the game wasn't so long;
Who you are and what you do is not for fortune and fame,
Truly it is your love of the sport, you are the "Keepers of the Game".

Goal Setting for Self Improvement in Athletics

By Kathy Holloway
Coach/Health Physical Education Instructor
Bolton High School

Goal setting can help athletes improve both their self confidence and athletic skills. It can also force athletes to confront certain realities about their ability and potential for improvement.

Putting the goals on paper and continually keeping them in mind can nurture commitment and ambition. Once the athletes achieve a goal after much persistent practice, they will enjoy a measure of success ...even if the scoreboard doesn't reflect their personal improvement.

At the first team meeting at the beginning of the season, the coach should discuss personal goal setting. The most important advice the coach can give is to make sure that each goal is (1) attainable and (2) important enough to make the athlete focus on it.

Such goals as "improve my shooting percentage" or "work for a faster sprint time" can help build a successful team because they emphasize personal improvement rather than a competitive rivalry.

To be most beneficial, the goals must be specific. Such generalities as, "I just want to do my best" are rarely motivational. Improvement can be made only after the athlete's abilities have been assessed and the specific areas needing improvement addressed.

The athletes should list their individual expectations for the season on index cards, both long-range goals (e.g., Why am I playing? What do I want to achieve?) and short-term goals (e.g., What must I work on every day to reach my long-range goal?) should be kept on file in the coach's office.

The coach should, in addition, discuss the importance of immediate goals (e.g., What is the purpose of today's practice in relation to my goal?). The coach may also want each athlete to list daily or weekly goals.

Coaches should discuss individual goals with each athlete privately, soon as they become familiar with the athletes and their capabilities.

Many athletes will set realistic long-range goals. Other athletes will have trouble setting attainable goals because they haven't correctly assessed their abilities or because their goals are non-specific. The coach may help this group revise its goals or set new ones.

As a reminder, the coach may post a finalized copy of personal goals in each athlete's locker. The coach and athlete should periodically meet to discuss the athlete's progress and update the goals.

The coach may use several approaches. First, instead of constantly pointing out athletes' weaknesses, the coach should stress the strengths of their performance. Since the athlete's confidence is constantly being challenged, the coach must be consistently positive. The coach must acknowledge individual achievement as it happens and should occasionally set up situations that will allow each player to be successful.

Awards for achievement sometimes work well, but they should not be doled out too freely.

As a second approach, coaches may stress the importance of imagining. The athlete can help achieve specifically stated goals through a simple three-step process: relaxation, concentration, and visualization. The technique can be used before and during competition to encourage achievement and relieve self-doubt.

Whenever the athlete fails, the coach should suggest rethinking the competition and visualizing a successful finish.

Once the athletes have experienced the satisfaction of "seeing" a goal accomplished, they will find it easier to set and visualize the accomplishment of future goals. Each success, however minor, will produce increased self-confidence.

Ultimately, the athlete's ability to set a realistic goal and then work to achieve it may take on an importance that extends far beyond the athletic realm; it may last a lifetime.

BASEBALL BAT

effect beginning January 1, 2000 will require that the coefficient of restitution (COR) of baseballs not exceed .555. In addition, with the beginning of the 2000 season, all baseballs used in game competition must bear the NFHS authenticating mark. According to Rumble, the changes should promote consistency and ensure that all balls meet NFHS specifications.

Two rules affecting player and umpire apparel also were implemented by the committee. A change to Rule 1-1-5 adjusts the acceptable size of manufacturers' logos and trademarks on player uniforms. Rule 10-1-9, by state association approval, will state that umpires shall wear the NFHS-approved navy pullover style shin, which, according to Rumble, promotes uniformity and provides a more professional look.

In addition to the rules changes, five Points of Emphasis were added to existing rules. These addressed issues such as the force play slide rule, appealing batting out of order, the NH-IS umpire development program and umpire professionalism.

According to Termeer, the small number of changes is a promising sign that the game of baseball remains popular with umpires, coaches and players.

"Other than the bat, we've got the game pretty well where people like it," Termeer said. "It's important that the umpires, coaches and especially the players are satisfied with the state of the game. I was very satisfied with the committee's work."

In terms of participation baseball remains one of the most popular sports for boys. Baseball ranks fourth among boys with 444,248 participants and third with 14,212 schools sponsoring programs, according to the 1997 High School Athletics Participation Survey conducted by the NFHS. There are 54 schools sponsoring girls programs and 1,126 girls participating in baseball.

matching funds for high school coaches training programs.

This is a major step in a multi-prong effort to improve the quality of high school coaching for students that participate in interscholastic athletics in California.

The CIF strives to be at the forefront of education of high school coaches and we will continue to help our student-athletes get the best training and life skills that can possibly be provided.

Should you have an interest in finding out more about these and other educational opportunities, please contact the State Office and CIF-CEP Coordinator Michelle Mazza at (415) 492-5919.

their opponents will make them, and the CIF-SS, very aware of it.

Therefore, all athletic administrators should take the time to review the rule on player and coaches conduct and the ejection rule for each individual sport as listed in your Blue Book.

Should you need any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact the CIF Southern Section office.

PHYSICAL EVALUATIONS

such evaluations." Jerry Diehi, assistant director of the NFHS and staff liaison to the Sports Medicine Advisory Committee, noted that the committee formulated its statement after thorough consultation with physicians across the country.

"Physicians have strongly advised the NFHS that a comprehensive inquiry into each student-athlete's medical history is a key indicator of potential health problems," Diehl said. "The NFHS believes that this type of inquiry should be part of every pre-participation physical evaluation."
