RELEASE: Wednesday, June 16 AMs

PITCHERS RANDY WOLF, EL CAMINO REAL, AND MARK JONES, CRENSHAW, NAMED 4-A & 3-A DIVISION PLAYERS OF THE YEAR IN L.A. CITY BASEBALL FOR THE 1993 DIAMOND SEASON

Randy Wolf, co-player of the year in the West Valley League and architect of a perfect game (5-0) vs. Banning High in the city playoffs, has been named player of the year in 4-A Division baseball for 1993. Southern League MVP, Mark Jones, winner of 16 games this past season for Crenshaw, was the 3-A Division's top player as selected by the Amateur Athletic Foundation - First Interstate Bank's All-Los Angeles City Board of Baseball.

El Camino Real, coached by Michael Maio, completed its 4-A Division championship season 24-2, defeating West Valley League runner-up Chatsworth 7-6 in the finals. Chatsworth completed its season 22-8. In the playoffs El Camino Real defeated Van Nuys (5-0), Banning (5-0), Monroe (6-0) and Chatsworth in the finals.

The Conquistadors placed five players on the division all-stars including infielder Dan Cey, a two-time all-city player. Monroe High's Jorge Dorado, all-around performer for the Vikings, made the team for the third year.

Michael Ryan's South Gate Rams won the 3-A Division title 9-5 over Crenshaw's Cougars. It was Crenshaw's ace moundman, Mark Jones, who was the board's unanimous choice for MVP honors. The Southern League's player of the year fashioned a perfect 16-0 record going into the final game vs. South Gate.

The Rams eliminated Marshall (6-4), Lincoln (13-2), and Franklin (7-0) before the division finale. Crenshaw got over Jefferson (11-0), Bell (3-2) and Hollywood (4-3) prior to the title decider. South Gate wound up the year 21-5, while the Cougars finished 24-4.

Mario Castaneda, Northeastern League MVP, is a repeater from last year's division team, while Bell's Rolando Gomez is a three-time all-city selection.

56TH ANNUAL SELECTIONS BY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SPORTSWRITERS

This year marks the 56th year that Southland sports journalists have selected all-star teams in baseball. Sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles and First Interstate Bank players named for all-city recognition receive beautiful framed scroll awards, while championship coaches receive plaques. This year's awards program is tentatively scheduled for Dodger Stadium on Thursday, August 12 prior to the Dodgers-Colorado Rockies game.

All high school all-star teams selected by the Foundation's board are on file in the Paul Ziffren Sports Resource Center Library.
